TERROR RAID ON LONDON

30 Dive-Bombers Blast School, Kill 20 Children

ROMMEL ARMY FLEEING TRIPOLI?

LONDON, Jan. 20 (INS)—The Morocco radio reported today there are indications that the Axis already has begun to embark troops at Tripoli.

(This report, if confirmed, might mean a "Dunkirk" for the Axis or it might mean that Rommel was shifting troops by water from Tripoli to Tunis. Military experts doubt if many Axis troops could be evacuated to the mainland of Europe because of the lack of small boats such as helped the British quit France.)

SCHOOL HIT IN BIG LONDON DAY RAID

LONDON, Jan. 20 (INS)—Hitler exacted his revenge on London today for two blistering attacks by the RAF against Berlin over the week-end.

He sent over 30 Focke-Wulf 190 dive-bombers which blasted south coast towns with bombs and machine-gun fire.

The fliers then streaked to a London suburb to ravage what apparently was the main objective of the attack—a crowded schoolhouse.

Militarily and politically the raid was of no importance. But its sheer brutality, with women and children machine-gunned in streets, schoolyards and gardens made it the major war development of the day.

Leaving scores of children dead and maimed in the wrecked schoolhouse, the raiders fled back to Europe in disorder, leaving at least 11 of their number behind, victims of British fighter planes and anti-aircraft fire. First reports said at least 20 were killed in the schoolhouse.

The schoolhouse, where many youngsters were caught outdoors at luncheon recess, was not in the heart of crowded London where the attack could have been accidental.

It was some distance in the suburbs, clearly visible for what it was—just an easy target for indiscriminate bombing and machine-gunning.

Fire followed the bombing and machine-gunning. Portions of the building had crumbled by the time ARP workers got there, and many children were believed still buried in the debris.

Throughout the afternoon there was a constant procession of ambulances rushing the little victims to hospitals.

The Focke-Wulfs were protected by more than 100 fighter planes, which gave them an umbrella over the English channel and then waited in the skies for their return.

The raid was the first daylight attack on the capital since last Oct. 26 when Mrs. Roosevelt was visiting London. It was the largest

Anthony Eden Says:

Rome Will Be Bombed

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP)—An implied threat that Rome will be bombed by the RAF "as heavily as possible if the course of the war should render such action convenient and helpful" was voiced by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in Commons today.

He was asked if he had information that there were a

ROME . . . ST. PETER'S IN DISTANCE

military camp and armament factories in or near Rome.

Eden replied affirmatively.

Then he was asked whether Rome was an open city.

"I think," he answered, "that the prime minister made it plain last September that we have as much right to bomb Rome as the Italians had to bomb London."

Commons answered with cheers.

REDS DRIVE AHEAD ON 2 NEW FRONTS

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Red Army pressed ahead today with mounting force on its two newest offensive fronts, toward Kharkov in the Ukraine and along the newly opened corridor to Leningrad.

The Russians declared the Germans had been unable to hold a successful defense anywhere along the battleline.

In their push southwest of Voronezh, where the Russians were within 79 miles of the big German base at Kharkov, Red Star reported a "large enemy force" encircled and said the pace of the Russian advance was increasing.

In the north, the army newspaper declared two powerfully fortified Nazi garrisons were under heavy Russian attack—one described as the "main stronghold" in the Volkhov sector south of Leningrad, and the other on the Leningrad front.

The capture of numerous towns on five fronts was reported in the Soviet noon communique which was broadcast from Moscow and recorded in London.

The advance on Kharkov, stemming from the Voronezh sector, had pushed 50 miles through Valuiki, junction point of three railroads east of Kharkov, and into Urazovo.

The occupation of Valuiki enabled the Russians to cut for the first time the rail line which runs north to Kastornoye, between Voronezh and Kursk, paralleling the main Moscow-Rostov line.

The penetration to Urazovo put the Soviet army within 30 miles of Kupiansk, one of the first cities taken by the Germans in their offensive on the Kharkov front last summer.

A special communique claimed the capture of Kamensk after hard street fighting. This at once consolidated the Red army's bridgehead on the south bank of the Donets river and put a main body at a point 85 miles north of Rostov on the main Moscow-Rostov railway. Some advance guards are 10 miles nearer Rostov.

The recapture of Petrovskoe, in the northern Caucasus, was hailed as another major success in the special communique. It lies at a junction of railroads from Divnoe and Blagodarnoe forming a line that runs southwest to Stavropol.

These roads lead toward Armavir, the Maikop oil fields and the strong point effected by the Germans at Kropotkin.

U-Boats Still Growing Peril

By JAMES KING

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP)—In an attempt to keep the tremendous output of Allied war factories from the battlefields, Hitler was said by British naval observers today to be maintaining 200 U-boats of his fleet of perhaps 500 at sea all the time.

An unofficial British estimate was that Germany is building from 15 to 20 submarines a month—faster than naval observers here believe the Allies are sinking them.

The German radio boasts that the new U-boats are able to stay longer at sea than the old ones and that they are getting torpedoes, supplies and even new crew members from large "mother U-boats."

NAZI SUBMARINE . . . MENACE TO ALLIES

Lord Cranborne, lord privy seal, told the House of Lords that "the scale of U-boat attacks is increasing and it is probable that the peak has not yet been reached."

Germany now is reported to be building U-boats by prefabrication. Parts are made all over Europe and assembled in great bomb-proof caves and concrete pens in French Bay of Biscay ports.

Most of the submarines met in the Atlantic are of the heavy ocean-going type of 1060 tons or more with a surface speed of 18.5 knots and a better than ordinary underwater speed through the use of nickel instead of lead in storage batteries.

AXIS IN 7-MILE TUNISIA SWEEP

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 20 (AP)—Axis forces advancing southwest of Pont Du Fahs on the Tunisian front have scored a penetration of about seven miles, an Allied headquarters communique said today.

The communique also reported that "minor engagements continue in the Bou Arada-Goubellat area" further north.

The Pont Du Fahs area, about 40 miles southwest of Tunis, has been held largely by French forces.

The Allied command also reported that American B-24 Liberators bombed Tripoli and the Tunisian port of Sousse by daylight yesterday from the east. Sousse "hits were made on industrial buildings and railway yards."

Besides the heavy bombers, United States medium bombers and fighters ranged over most of the Tunisian front, from the capital area in the north to points near the Tunisian-Libyan border in the south.

On Homs and Tarhuna, 56 and 40 miles, respectively, from Tripoli, last evening, a British communique said today.

Reports from the front said the Eighth Army had reached the crest of the Jebel Nefusa, a series of ridges which form a wide defensive ring around the region of Tripoli.

The Eighth Army gathered prisoners, guns and vehicles as it moved forward.

Allied air squadrons, operating from advanced air bases, pounded Rommel's retreating army.

The Berlin radio said British

NEW GUINEA—Allied troops closed in around four pockets of Japs trapped in the Sananda sector, capturing and killing scores. Meanwhile, 18 Jap bombers raided Sananda in an attempt to aid their ground forces.

RUSSIA—The swift sweeping Reds were within 79 miles of Kharkov today and were only 75 miles from Rostov in a drive from the north which pushed through Kamensk. Another push on Rostov gained in the Salsk area.

LIBYA—The British Eighth Army rolled nearer to Tripoli today as the left wing closed Tarhuna in a drive intended to cut in ahead of the fleeing Nazis. The right wing pushed along the coast beyond Zliten.

Natalie Ouster May Split Defense Unit

Resignations of many more officers of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps were expected today in the wake of the ousting of Col. Natalie Hays Hammond of Gloucester from her post as commander.

News of her removal brought quick threats of wholesale withdrawals from many of the 25,000 members of the organization founded by Miss Hammond.

While Massachusetts Public Safety Committee officials made no comment, a sweeping reorganization of the unit was expected to follow the commander's dismissal.

Director J. Wells Farley of the state public safety committee, who ordered her removal, denied the dismissal was to be construed as preliminary to dissolution of the corps, a "worthwhile organization."

He also said a successor to Miss Hammond will be appointed soon and the corps entirely revamped.

RESIGNED HER CLAIM

Such a reorganization was suggested by Maj. John J. Lane of Middleboro, State Guard officer, two months before Farley appointed him as his assistant, in full charge of the Women's Defense Corps.

At that time, Jan. 9 last, Miss Hammond announced the appointment made no change in her status and that she would continue as leader of the corps, even though Farley's action had made Maj. Lane her superior.

Gov. Saltonstall declined to discuss the matter today when asked if Miss Hammond had been ousted or of he had received a letter of resignation from her.

Nor would the Governor affirm or deny a suggestion that he had talked over with Farley the matter of her departure from the corps.

"Mr. Farley's letter speaks for itself," said the Governor. "When authority is delegated to a person, the person should live up to the responsibilities of the position."

Meanwhile, it was a "$64 question" as to whether Miss Hammond resigned or was fired. She claims that her resignation, along with those of Alice D. Laughlin, chief of staff, and Phyllis Connard, deputy chief of staff, had been mailed to Gov. Saltonstall prior to her dismissal by Farley.

FARLEY TALKS

Although reluctant to discuss the case, Farley said the responsibility of removing Miss Hammond was entirely his and added that he had never appointed Miss Hammond and did not know how she ever came by the title of "Colonel."

Farley said the party held at the Copley-Plaza two weeks ago, at which time corps members procured extra gasoline in order to attend, had nothing to do with the Hammond ouster.

PEGGY'S MOTHER AT ERROL TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20 (AP)—The mother to whom Peggy La Rue Satterlee, willowy and demure, tearfully related her story of alleged seduction aboard Screen Actor Errol Flynn's yacht followed the brunette night club entertainer to the witness stand today in the actor's trial on three counts of statutory rape.

Mrs. William Satterlee, the mother, and Peter Stackpole, cameraman for a national picture magazine, were summoned to testify as prosecution witnesses upon completion of Miss Satterlee's cross-examination.

Speaking in a voice so low her words could hardly be heard at times, Miss Satterlee, who says she is only 16, yesterday related the incidents of a week-end cruise in August, 1941, aboard the actor's palatial yacht Sirocco, during which she said he twice had intimate relations with her.

It was after a Saturday evening spent on the isthmus at Catalina island, Miss Satterlee said, that the yachting party, consisting of herself and another young woman, Flynn and a friend, Buster Wiles, returned to the Sirocco, and retired for the night.

Miss Satterlee testified the actor knocked and then entered her stateroom, and despite her protest, "Why pick on a nice girl?" he ravished her after professing that he merely wanted to talk with her.

"I asked him if he forgot I was 'J. B.,'" she said, referring to previous testimony that Flynn had called her by those initials, which she explained meant "jail bait."

"He said he would take his chances, or something of that order. I resisted him at first, but I didn't fight or anything. I just told him he shouldn't do that. . . . I pushed him away, but that is about all."

The next night, Miss Satterlee continued, after a day spent in boating, swimming, surf-board racing and fishing, the yacht was approaching its home port. She and Flynn were on deck and "I think he kissed me once."

She admired the moon, she said, and the actor invited her below decks with the assurance that it "looks prettier from a port hole." But when she sought to leave Flynn's stateroom, Miss Satterlee related, the actor again urged his attentions upon her.

West Has Cold Wave; 51 Below In Minnesota

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (INS)—A paralyzing cold wave today swept the North Central states, the Midwest and Southwest, and the Rocky Mountain region.

In scattered areas, heavy snows of several days, blown into huge drifts, caused innumerable traffic tie-ups and rendered highways impassable.

The cold caused the closing of most rural schools in northern Illinois and Indiana. Every school in Lake County, north of Chicago, was ordered closed.

Coldest spot was in northern Minnesota—51 below. Minneapolis and St. Paul reported a low of minus 29. Kansas City's 12 below was the lowest for 18 years. Chicago's 13 below was a record for a Jan. 20.

The Chicago Motor Club yesterday received 3500 calls for help from motorists, highest number in its history.

New Mexico was visited by one of its worst blizzards.

Even in the fruit growing areas of California and the Rio Grande region freezing temperatures were reported.

Madge Bellamy Jailed in Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20 (AP) — Madge Bellamy of the silent films today found herself the central figure in a real-life melodrama of gunfire.

Trembling a bit and sniffing into a handkerchief, she admitted Police Inspector Frank Lucey said that she fired three shots last night at A. Stanwood Murphy, socially-prominent lumber company executive with whom she had been going for years. A felony charge of assault with a deadly weapon was filed against the former actress.

She was enraged, she said, because Murphy had married another, the other being June Alma, New York model, to whom he was wed in Baltimore recently.

The former film star located Murphy at his club and waited for him to emerge from the rear exit. Three shots, loud but slightly inaccurate, ricocheted around the classic brownstone mansion as Murphy approached his car, missing him by a matter of yards. Two bullets struck the car as Murphy scrambled for cover.

Miss Bellamy surrendered meekly to one of two startled bystanders. At the city prison she was booked under her real name, Margaret Philpot, and gave her age as 35.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP) — The body of a 12-year-old school girl, her head smashed, was found today in a blood-soaked bed in a West Side apartment, and police said she had been attacked and slain.

Police said that near the bed they found a hammer which they believed was used to kill the child, Martha James.

UNION WARNS MINERS

WILKES-BARRE, Jan. 20 (AP) —The United Mine Workers served notice on striking anthracite miners today that they face "dishonorable expulsion forthwith, if they refuse to obey President Roosevelt's order to return to work by noon tomorrow.

The UMW executive committee of District 1, to which the unauthorized work stoppage now is confined, issued the warning as thousands of miners, increasingly resentful of what they regard as the government's unwillingness to negotiate their grievances immediately, voted to stay out.

M. J. Kosik, District 1 president, declared that "the majority of mine workers should not suffer because of the action of a small minority."

Angry mutterings of "let the troops come!" were heard at meetings at which strike ballots were taken.

Karl Kratz, president of one revolting United Mine Workers' local, bluntly declared:

"I don't see why the government doesn't give the men assurance it will look into their grievances without the threat of force."

President Roosevelt served notice yesterday that the strikers must go back within 48 hours and said if the order was not obeyed the government would "take the necessary steps to protect the security of the nation against a strike doing serious damage to the war effort."

The warning was widely interpreted to mean that troops would be dispatched to take the mines.

John L. Lewis and other UMW leaders, as well as the WLB and other governmental agencies, have condemned the strike since it began, saying it has created a coal shortage endangering prosecution of the war.

JUDGE DAVIS B. KENISTON
Named as Chief Justice

PUTNAM POST TO KENISTON

Judge Davis B. Keniston of 70 Fenway, for less than three years an associate justice of Boston Municipal Court, was today nominated by Gov. Saltonstall for the $10,000 post as chief justice, succeeding the late F. Delano Putnam.

The governor also named Special Justice Joseph E. Donovan of the Arborway, Jamaica Plain, prominent Boston attorney who has held the special judgeship for two decades, as associate justice to replace Judge Keniston.

This position pays $9000 and the appointment is for life, when confirmed by the executive council.

Judge Donovan is a Charlestown boy and as a young man he was in the Suffolk County sheriff's office. Taking up the study of law, he passed the bar and became one of the city's oustanding practitioners.

For more than 15 years he was associated with the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission.

Judge Keniston, former legislator and two-term chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, was appointed an associate justice March 6, 1940 by Gov. Saltonstall. He succeeded Judge John Duff, who had retired.

The chief justice nominee lives with his wife, the former Alice B. Leavens, and they have one son, Davis B., Jr., 20.

PLANS FOR EVACUATION SPURRED BY OIL CRISIS

Bitter cold and driving winds intensifed the fuel oil crisis throughout Massachusetts today, forcing Red Cross and civilian defense officials in a score of communities to make ready for wholesale evacuations of families from heatless homes.

The mercury plunged far below freezing during the night, and fierce winds, which caused widespread damage in the wake of the ice storm, made the cold more penetrating. "Much colder" was the U. S. Weather Bureau's prediction for today.

In the face of such conditions, Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, state conservator, solemnly declared that the state has reached its most critical phase of the oil shortage for the entire winter. He said the ice storm had held up kerosene shipments and that the supply on hand is smaller than ever before.

Oil dealers, reporting their tanks dry, agreed that practically all the range oil left in Massachusetts is now in the stoves and ranges of householders.

Many family groups huddled close to their kitchen stoves to keep warm and save as much of the precious fuel as possible. Men, women and children were making the rounds of depots with containers, but few succeeded in obtaining oil.

'Mirror Twins' Join Navy

From now on Coast Guard officers are going to be pretty well put to it to tell a couple of their enlisted men apart, and the officers are quite apt to be wrong about the lads unless they make them write.

Clifton S. and Clifford S. Gustafson, 21, of Taber ave., Providence, are the newcomers and today they left Boston with a group of 30 to train for commissions at Groton and New London, Ct.

The brothers are "mirror twins," graduate of Brown University, where they excelled in sailboat racing, and Coast Guard officers said the only means of telling them apart is that one writes left-handed, and the other right-handed.

Which one writes which? Well, that is something the officers neglected to assure themselves on yet.

3 MORE HEARD IN BEANO QUIZ

Two state detectives and a sixth Malden alderman went today before the Middlesex County grand jury in the probe of alleged attempts by the number pool racketeers to buy up the Malden city government and take over control of beano there.

The grand jury was expected to reach a decision late today or some time tomorrow in the case of Dr. Harry (Doc Jasper) Sagansky, accused of offering bribes to two aldermen.

Called before the grand jury today were Alderman John J. Lucy, Lieut. Joseph Crescio and Inspector James Cunniff, the latter two of State Police.

Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford seeks indictments against James J. Carrigan, Jr., Malden filling station proprietor, in addition to Sagansky, claiming both men tried to influence members of the Malden city government.

Five aldermen, Earl Chisholm, Fred Lamson, Max Rosenblatt, Timothy Duffy and John J. McCarthy, and Councilor Henry Lewin of Malden already have been heard by the jurors.

DEMANDS RECORDS

An unexpected turn in the investigation of Greater Boston gambling rackets was the surprise appearance at Boston Police Headquarters of Asst. Atty.-Gen. Frank G. Volpe to demand horse room and numbers pool records of the department going back seven years to the racket-busting days of Capt. James T. Sheehan.

Volpe bore a letter calling for "immediate compliance" to a demand that the Boston records be made available to investigating authorities. His appearance, along with that of State Detective Joseph Ferrari who accompanied him, was a surprise since Police Commr. Timilty had sent a letter promising full co-operation.

It developed, however, that Timilty's letter was in the mails and had not been delivered. The commissioner is ill at home with laryngitis.

It was learned today that Timilty, in his instructions to Supt. Edward W. Fallon to turn over all reports and documents requested by the Attorney-General, ordered a "diligent search," so that no report having any connection with gambling or lotteries will be overlooked.

Timilty instructed that, if necessary to expedite the search for records wanted by the state prosecutor, Fallon assign Deputy Supts. James F. Daley and James R. Claflin to assist Deputy John M. Anderson.

Postponing visits to hospitals and homes where survivors of the Cocoanut Grove tragedy are still under treatment, Fire Commr. William Arthur Reilly today resumed his secret inquest.

Eight witnesses, including members of the police arson squad, awaited questioning at fire headquarters, Bristol st.

The first witness was Stanley Robinson of Bedford st., Boston, who installed and maintained fire extinguishers at the Grove. He was expected to tell of the number of extinguishers in the club and the frequency of inspection and recharging.

The visits to approximately 20 patients in Massachusetts General and City Hospitals will be made later this week, Reilly said. Statements will be obtained concerning the events of the tragic night when 489 persons perished.

Others scheduled to testify today included Royal Smith, club janitor, of Tremont st., South End and arson squad members, Louis Cohen, Richard Roycroft, James Bateman, John Downey, James McTighe and John Hanley.

Cohen was making his second appearance, having testified several weeks ago at the public sessions.

4 CAMBRIDGE FIREMEN HURT

Four firemen were injured today when a two-alarm fire swept through four stories in a business block at Walden st. and Richdale ave., North Cambridge, and threatened to spread to several nearby homes.

The injured firemen were taken to Cambridge City Hospital. None was seriously hurt, hospital authorities said.

The fire was discovered in the office of the Leader Soap Co. and spread quicgly to an oil tank.

An explosion spread the flames through the building and ruined a grocery store, barber shop and market.

Flying embers, whipped by a strong wind, menaced nearby homes. iFremen, however, prevented spread of the fire.

I hear about so much?
Is that the butter we can't get
And beans and meat and such?

Well, if that's all, I guess there isn't
Much about to gripe,
It says here in the paper there's six ways
Of fixing tripe.

There's lots of that there stuff around,
It says, so hully gee
Why don't you go and get some
At the corner grocery?

Cause we got lots o' taters and termaters
And the like,
We can even get some mushrooms from the
Stand down on the pike.

Gee Ma, we'll have a dinner that will
Be a novelty
And daddy will be tickled with surprise,
You wait and see.

What's that? You say that's one thing in
The house you won't allow?
That tripe is just a word that means
The innards of a cow?

Well, holy smoke, I didn't know, I thought the Stuff was meat.
Now what with this here rationing, is a
Fella gonna eat?

You say you bought some lamb chops with my
Sister's school tuition?
Just think of that—O Praise the Lord and Pass Me That Nutrition.

GENE KRUPA MAKES MUSIC AS ARRESTING POLICE WAIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20 (AP)—Gene Krupa led his nationally famed band through a 45-minute program of hot "jive" at a downtown theater last night while officers waited in the wings to arrest him on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

He was taken into custody after he left the stage, and to the city prison for booking.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Leonard said a warrant for Krupa's arrest was issued after a visit by federal narcotic agents to the musician's dressing room at the theater, a search of his hotel room, and the alleged discovery of marijuana cigarettes in the possession of a prop boy who joined the band 10 days ago in Hollywood.

The boy was held at the Juvenile Detention Home for investigation. He was taken into custody by Federal Narcotic Agents J. V. Guibbini and O. W. Polcuch.

The 34-year-old, dark-haired musician, discussed the situation with newsmen as he awaited his call to the stage.

"The agents searched my room,' he declared, "and found nothing. There's nothing to it. If the boy had marijuana cigarettes in his possession, I don't know how he got them.

"This boy used to hang around the theater in Hollywood where I played. He was a sort of 'fan,' I suppose you might call him."

Krupa, born in Chicago, started drumming at the age of 13 with a band in his home town. He played the drums for Benny Goodman and then formed his own band.

Pension for All Over 60 Urged by Lane

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Persons over 60 would receive pensions ranging from $60 to $75 a month under a national pension system proposed in a bill (HR 1281) by Rep. Lane (R.) of Massachusetts.

The system would be financed by a 2 per cent tax on wages, salaries, commissions and all other income derived from business transactions.

4 Children Vanish From Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 20—How can a family vanish overnight?

This was the question police here were attempting to answer today, after three children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Frederick of 10th st., disappeared while their parents were at work in a war plant.

The children are Hilda, 16, Chester, six, and Judith, 19 months. Police today were contacting relatives in New York and seeking to trace the whereabouts of Hilda's boy friend, believing she may have taken the children with her.

FLYNN'S WORLD FAIR CAREER CITED AS DIPLOMACY PROOF

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—An Assistant Secretary of State told the Senate foreign relations committee today that Edward J. Flynn's experience as federal commissioner for the New York World's Fair helped equip him to discharge the duties of minister to Australia.

The assistant secretary, G. Howland Shaw, also told the committee, at the start of open hearings on his qualifications for the appointment, that Flynn "knows people and knows well how to get along with people."

Flynn, the former Bronx County, N. Y., sheriff who resigned Monday as Democratic national chairman, was expected to take the stand later to defend himself against charges of unfitness preferred by Sen. Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire on the Senate floor.

Shaw, reading a formal statement, said the charges, of course, would have to be passed upon by the committee, but he noted that Flynn was the personal choice of President Roosevelt, who "keeps himself familiar with all the essential phases of foreign affairs."

PLEASE DON'T USE TAXICABS FOR PLEASURE DRIVING

Director of the U. S. Office of Defense Transportation

JOSEPH B. EASTMAN IS RIGHT WHEN HE SAYS:

"The purpose of restricting the use of private passenger cars in the eastern United States to necessary driving is being partially defeated. The purpose, of course, is to cut down on the consumption of gasoline. Obviously, NOTHING IS ACCOMPLISHED IF PLEASURE RIDING IS MERELY TRANSFERRED FROM PASSENGER CARS TO TAXICABS."

OUR REPLY . . .

We believe that Victory in this War comes first and above all goals before us . . . to that end we dedicate our every effort.

Gasoline and Rubber are powerful Ammunition, both of which are precious commodities indispensable to our Armed forces in their forward march, on every global front to Victory and freedom.

To our fighting men—to Mr. Eastman, we, an integral part of the public transportation system, in whose livelihood gasoline and rubber play an all important part, wholeheartedly and unselfishly, say "WE ARE WITH YOU!"

To the public—we say in order to assure adequate transportation for essential purposes, we feel obliged to impose on ourselves the following restrictions:

1. We will not accept trips to places of amusement or recreation.
2. We will not waste gasoline and rubber.
3. We will not accept trips more than 10 miles beyond the corporate limits of the city.
4. We will not accept trips for commercial deliveries.
5. We will not accept trips for sightseeing.
6. We will not cruise.
7. We will conserve on all materials vital to the war effort.
8. We will observe all legal speed limits.
9. We will police our own industry.
10. We will not permit the use of taxicabs, including social or recreational, personal to the driver or operator.

'C' Tag Goes On Rear Glass

The new enlarged "C" gasoline ration sticker should be pasted on the rear window rather than on the windshield, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin said today.

"It is altogether too big and interferes with the driver's vision,' he said. The new sticker measures 6¼ by 2½ inches.

Gidwin issued the order following a conference with OPA officials. He said if a car had no rear window the sticker could be placed on the windshield "in such a potion as not to interfere'

Minister in Famous Furnace Case Dies

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 20 (AP) —The Rev Clarence V. Sheatsley, prominent Lutheran clergyman whose wife was found burned to death in the furnace of their suburban home here 18 years ago, died yesterday. He was 68.

The woman's death precipitated an investigation that ended after Coroner Joseph A. Murphy ruled Mrs. Sheatsley crawled into the furnace and killed herself.

PHONE CALL LURED WOMAN TO BLUDGEON DEATH, BELIEF

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 20—Belief that Mrs. Angela C. Smith, 43-year-old jewelry company bookkeeper, was lured to her death by a mysterious telephone call, was under police investigation today. The woman's body was found in her summer cottage in a lonely section of the town of Foster. She had been bludgeoned to death.

Detectives sought identity of the caller as search was intensified for her husband, Thomas F. Smith, a railroad brakeman for whom an eight-state teletype alarm has been broadcast.

Police want to question him and seek any assistance he can give in solving the mystery surrounding his wife's slaying.

Police said they planned to question several office workers in the jewelry firm where Mrs. Smith was employed, to learn if the slain woman received a telephone call before she left her job Saturday afternoon.

Her body, fully clothed, was found by her mother, Mrs. Aurelia Leccese, who led State troopers to the summer cottage.

STEP-SON QUESTIONED

Capt. Daniel O'Brien, who heads the State investigation into the slaying, revealed that he had questioned a 19-year-old son of Smith by a previous marriage. He said the son, four other children, and Smith's first wife live in North Providence.

After questioning the son, O'Brien said he was convinced that Smith drove his automobile to Union station and parked it at the spot where it was found by police.

Retracing Smith's movements, police found he had drawn his pay from the railroad at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday, four hours before his estranged wife's body was discovered in the summer cottage in Foster.

COUPLE SEPARATED

Probability that Mrs. Smith died last Saturday was expressed by Dr. Arthur G. Randall, Foster medical examiner, who said that an autopsy showed the woman had been struck repeated blows over the head before she died. A blood-stained shovel was found in the house near her body.

Smith and his wife were married in September 1941, and had separated last November. They had no children.

Detective James C. Finneran said today that he had investigated a quarrel between the Smiths some months ago, but that Smith had told him only last week that he and his wife had "made up."

The detective said Smith's drinking had been the cause of the quarrel and that Mrs. Smith had told him her husband was intensely jealous.

Snip and Yank Save Soldier 9000 Ft. in Air

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 20 (AP)—Pvt. Arthur Newell, Kirtland field photographer, hung half-way out of an Army bomber soaring 9000 feet in the air—only he didn't know it.

He was unconscious. The story of the rescue was related last night by Lieut. Howard K. Finch, Kirtland field public relations officer.

Pvt. Newell had gone aloft with Lieut. Robert G. Ellis, bomber pilot, and Cadets Andrew Hebert and William E. Luke.

Lieut. Finch said the plane hit some really rough air. The jolt loosened the bomb cargo but jammed it at such an angle that the men were unable to release it or pull it back into the ship, even though the bomb-bay doors were forced open.

The plane hit more bad air, the officer said, and Cadet Hebert heard a thud and turned to see Pvt. Newell lying unconscious on the floor with the upper part of his body hanging out of the ship.

The jolt opened Newell's parachute, which threatened to pull him out of the plane. Cadet Luke, hanging out of the bomb bay doors, cut the shroud line of the open chute. Then Hebert and Luke pulled Newell back into the ship.

The plane returned safely.

A Report to the Nation

..on the Beverage Distilling Industry's Part in the War Effort... and the current Question of Rationing

by H. V. Kaltenborn NOTED COMMENTATOR AND JOURNALIST

IN RECENT MONTHS I have received a number of letters from my radio and movie audience asking me this question... "Will our distilleries continue to produce alcoholic beverages during the war?"

Frankly, I did not know the answer. I investigated and here is what I found out. No distiller is making whiskey today. The beverage distilling industry is engaged 100% in producing war alcohol for the government.

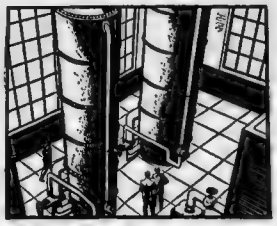
As a matter of fact, I discovered that individually and collectively the beverage distilling industry offered its facilities to the government one year before Pearl Harbor.

Here's another interesting point. While distillers have substantial stocks on hand, made during peacetime... enough to last three years... they have, in fairness to all, self-imposed a system of rationing. This will assure anyone interested in purchasing these products that a reasonable amount will be available over a period of time.

During my investigation I also learned the answers to several other questions. I am telling you about them below.

1 Why is alcohol so important to war production?

Alcohol is a basic ingredient used in the manufacture of smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials, medical supplies, and synthetic rubber. In addition to our own needs, large quantities are required for Lend-Lease needs.



2 How much alcohol does the government require for the war effort and where does it get it?

The War Production Board's 1943 quota calls for 530,000,000 gallons. Half is supplied by industrial alcohol plants... and half is produced by the beverage distilling industry.

3 When the distilleries were converted to war alcohol production, didn't this require much critical steel, copper, and bronze?

Practically none. To conserve these much needed materials, the industry's engineers were able to utilize tile, wood, glass, porcelain and other substitutes.

4 How quickly did the distilleries begin production of war alcohol?

In most cases, immediately, for the beverage distilling industry had voluntarily begun the conversion process long before the government actually requisitioned its facilities. Today its facilities are devoted 100% to the war effort.

5 How much smokeless powder can be produced from the alcohol turned out by the industry in one year?

Enough to supply an armed force of millions of men for three full years, but there are also many other vital needs for industrial alcohol besides smokeless powder which must be considered.

6 Just how much synthetic rubber can be produced from the distilling industry's alcohol quota?

The industry's facilities for producing grain alcohol make it possible to include 200,000 tons of rubber from grain in the government's 870,000-ton synthetic rubber program.

7 Is there any sugar used by the distilling industry in making whiskey or war alcohol?

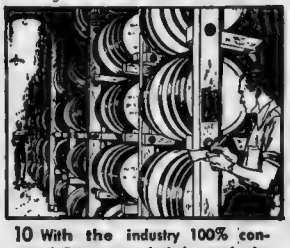
Sugar is never used in making whiskey ...it is distilled from grain. And the beverage distilling industry is also making war alcohol exclusively from grain.

8 Will this use of grain deplete the stores needed for food?

No. There is a tremendous surplus. The distilling industry is able to transform 100,000,000 bushels of it into vital war material. This enables farmers to contribute even more directly to the war effort, and frees needed granary space.

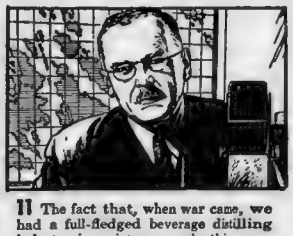
9 Will many tankers and tank cars be used to ship this alcohol to the war plants?

No. The conversion of distilleries in the mid-west has provided the new ordnance and synthetic rubber plants with nearby sources of supply, conserving tankers and tank cars for shipping fuel oil and gasoline to critical areas.



10 With the industry 100% converted for war alcohol, won't the federal and state governments lose the tax revenue from alcoholic beverage sales?

No. The industry can still supply the public from reserve stocks made during peacetime and continue to account for over a billion dollars in taxes yearly.



11 The fact that, when war came, we had a full-fledged beverage distilling industry in existence made this contribution to the war effort possible. Otherwise, it is easy to understand how the government would have been forced to spend months of time and millions of dollars in building and renovating distilleries and training personnel.

H. V. Kaltenborn

When sometimes you may be unable to obtain your favorite brand... please remember...

1. No distiller is making whiskey today.
2. Every distiller is using his plant 100% to produce war alcohol for the government.
3. This alcohol is necessary for smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials, medical supplies, and synthetic rubber.
4. The supply of alcoholic beverages in storage must be made to last longer than originally planned.
5. Therefore—in fairness to all—rationing has been self-imposed to assure a reasonable supply over a period of time.

POMO KILLING TOLD IN COURT

Denial by two witnesses of any knowledge of the reason for the killing of Anthony Pomo, although both were present at the time, today highlighted the first degree murder trial of Salvatore Venuti, 31, of Hanover st., North End.

Testifying before Judge Frank J. Donahue in Suffolk Superior Court, Joseph Semenza and Joseph DeMarco, both of whom have pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the same case, declared they did not know what Pomo and Joseph "Little Bozo" Cortese argued about.

Cortese is also under indictment in the murder and is being sought by police.

TELLS KILLING STORY

Called as a state witness, DeMarco told the story of the killing in what court attaches said was the most cold-blooded and nonchalant recitation they had heard in years.

Under questioning by Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle, DeMarco told the court that Cortese, Semenza, Venuti and he went to the Henchman st. apartment of Alphonso Penta where a card game was in progress.

DeMarco testified Pomo and Cortese argued, but denied he knew why.

"Cortese took a gun from Semenza," DeMarco said, "and it went off right near my ear."

He told the court that Cortese kept firing while Pomo slumped to the floor mortally wounded.

The witness said the group left the apartment, but returned later.

The state rested after Lieut. Louis DiSessa of the homicide squad testified that Penta had told him Venuti had stood by the door and took no part in the crime.

VENUTI NERVOUS

Venuti, called to the stand in his own defense, was obviously nervous. He testified he was standing on Hanover st., outside a cafe, on the day of the killing. Semenza Cortese and DeMarco invited him in to have a drink but he refused.

Chided by Judge Donahue for his inability to speak up, Venuti stood up and attempted to leave the witness stand saying:

"If I'm found guilty I want to die in the electric chair."

TOJO ILL, JAP DIET RECESSES

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Office of War Information said the Tokyo radio broadcast a report today that Premier Tojo is ill and that the 81st Diet would be recessed until Jan. 27.

Premier Tojo

The Diet has been in New Year recess since Dec. 27 but was scheduled to reconvene tomorrow.

On tomorrow's program Tojo was to have delivered two addresses, one as premier and the other as war minister.

Technical opening ceremonies will be observed tomorrow, the broadcast reported, and then the Diet immediately will vote the extra week of recess.

OWI suggested that "the recessing of the Diet may have been the real purpose behind the report since recently Tojo has been assuming more and more dictatorial powers."

The OWI said it was interesting to note that on Jan. 15 the Japanese put out an English language broadcast boasting of Tojo's health.

Navy Confirms Haruna End

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Decoration of a Flying Fortress bombardier for plastering the 29,000-ton Japanese battleship Haruna cleared up today any doubt as to whether the big warship was listed officially as sunk in the first week of the war.

Word of the decoration of Sergt. Meyer S. Levin of Brooklyn, received from Australia yesterday, told of the Haruna listing and sinking after his bomb load had been dumped upon her. Levin was bombardier for Capt. Colin Kelly, pilot of the plane credited with the sinking.

The sinking originally was announced by the War Department Dec. 11, 1941, in a communique which told of American Army Air Forces attacking the ship in the South Pacific off the northern coast of Luzon in the Philippines.

The Navy did not list the Haruna with enemy ships destroyed, leading to some speculation as to whether she actually went to the bottom. But the Navy said the Haruna was not listed only because she was sunk by Army and not Navy fliers.

ALLIES MOP UP PAPAU JAPS

AUSTRALIA, Jan. 20 (AP)—Allied ground forces have cut the last garrison of Japanese on the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea into four isolated groups after capturing the village and point of Sanananda, an Allied headquarters communique said today.

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese in the bitter fighting and only 27 were taken prisoner. Some of the Japanese were reported wandering in the swampy jungle country.

The only remaining enemy resistance was from two Japanese pockets on either side of Sanananda point and two more on Sanananda road leading to the beach.

The Japanese attempted to aid their apparently doomed ground troops in the Sanananda sector by sending a group of bombers over the battle area to attack Allied troops, but the effort was unsuccessful, the communique said.

Four enemy bombers raided the Allied base at Milne Bay, but without effect, it was reported.

Meanwhile, Allied medium bombers raided Japanese supply dumps at Lae, New Guinea, starting many fires, and other Allied aircraft attacked Japanese installations on Timor, on the Kaie Islands and at Gasmata, New Britain.

For the last 24 hours, the British communique said, fighter-bombers and bombers have maintained a continuous pressure on the columns moving westward from Tarhuna.

daylight attack since the Battle of Britain in September, 1940.

PRISON CELLS REFUGE

Other victims besides the school children included men working in gardens, women and children walking in the streets and mothers taking their youngsters to air raid shelters or calling for them at school to escort them home for lunch.

A number of spectators at a murder trial took shelter in the cells of Old Bailey when the trial was suspended during the alert.

Over the London area, the Nazi formation split into small groups, ranging from four to eight machines, which indiscriminately carried out dive-bombing and machine-gunning operations.

Several of London's barrage balloons were shot down in flames.

British fighters caught the Focke-Wulf's as they roared back to the coast and crowds stood in the streets watching the biggest aerial battle since "blitz" days.

The German formation made its way steadily to the coast, hampered every minute by British fighters which moved in for attack.

DWELLINGS BLASTED

Reports from International News Service observers over a widespread area of the suburbs all spoke of heavy machine-gunning and considerable damage to dwelling houses.

The raiders machine-gunned a train and a suburban station. Three points on the south coast also were bombed.

Authorities regarded the attack as a "propaganda" raid which will enable the Germans to boast at home of their ability to penetrate London's defenses.

The Focke-Wulf's swept out of clouds and dived down to within 100 feet of the ground before unloading their bombs. They then strafed the streets with machine gun fire.

U. S. SUB RIDES ATOP WAVES DARING JAPS TO DO WORS

SEATTLE, Jan. 20 (AP)—An American submarine, with a amazing record of having twice sunk two ships within 60 seconds each other, was on the surface during an attack on a Japanese c voy.

"Captain!" the lookout shouted, "there's on auxiliary cruiser out there shooting at us."

"Are they hitting us?" inquired the skipper.

"No," the lookout replied.

"Well, all right," calmly rejoined Lieut.-Comdr. Thomas B. Klakring, who has dared move his submarine so close to the shores of Japan the crew could see a horse race in progress.

Ensign Gilson Rohrback, telling of the convoy incident, said:

"The merchantmen were shooting at us, too, with five-inch deck guns but the skipper stayed on the surface to get another shot until Jap planes came out, then we pulled the cork and went down."

Among the eight Jap ships credited to the sub, the ensign listed as the most remarkable the four blasted to the bottom within minutes of each other.

But how could they miss?

Comdr. Klakring, the ensign said, "used to go in so close for torpedo shots that the concussion would be worse in the submarine than a lot of depth charges."

FLIER TACKLES JAP 5 TIMES; ENGINE FREEZE DROPS HIM

By CHARLES H. M'MURTRY

WITH THE U. S. FLEET IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Lieut. (JG) F. E. (Chris) Christoferson of White Bear Lake, Minn., wasn't around to receive his Distinguished Flying Cross the day Rear Admiral George Murray decorated fellow members of his squadron.

Chris earned the DFC all right, at Midway. But that day he was in the sick bay on a destroyer accompanying his carrier. Chris, flying a scout bomber, had tackled a Kawanishi 97 scout bomber. He almost made it back to the carrier, dropped 1000 yards short as his motor froze from lack of oil. The Jap had riddled Chris' fuel line.

Fellow pilots said Christ never should have tackled the giant Jap. The Kawanishi is a four-engine job, carries a crew of nine or 10. Chris' plane was a single-engine ship. His crew was his radioman-gunner, "Butch" Poorman, from Kansas City, Kan.

Chris and Butch spotted that Jap about 29 miles from their carrier.

MAKES 2-MILE RUN

"Sure I knew it was dangerous to tackle that big Jap," Chris said. "I have Butch radio the Jap's position and course to the carrier. But I knew that by the time our fighters could come out and shoot him down he would have time to find our task force and radio the information to his base. He hadn't seen our force yet. So I went in."

Going in involved a two-mile run, with Chris fortunate in having cumulus clouds to help cover his approach. Then he made five runs on that big land-based bomber.

"We hit him on the first run, but didn't have enough fire power to down him," Chris related. "I don't remember a thing about the next three passes. We were blazing away with everything we had and so was the Jap. I think he hit us on that first run, too. But he didn't hurt us.

"After four runs we were almost out of ammunition.

"I tried for a kill on that last (fifth) run. I hit him. He wobbled a little but didn't seem to be damaged badly. I was out of ammunition. He had punctured my fuel line. So I had to try to get home.

LANDS ON WATER

"As I turned away two of our fighter planes arrived. They finished him. They're still arguing about which one did it. Each wants to paint that little Jap flag (symbolic of a downed Jap) on his plane.

"I tried to get back to the carrier, but all my oil leaked out and my engine froze. I had to land on the water just a thousand yards short of my ship. Butch was thrown against the bulkhead and fractured his right arm. I was thrown against the instrument panel. A destroyer picked us up."

That's why Chris wasn't around to receive his DFC on schedule . . . The doctor at first thought he had a fractured skull. But Chris got off with an inch and a half cut on his temple.

When he came back to the carrier only three days after the crash, he was begging to take up another scout bomber. He was more interested in that than in the delayed presentation of his DFC.

SET LOTTERY RING TRIAL

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (INS)—The trial of 11 Chicagoans charged with conspiracy to operate a "million dollar" lottery ring today was set for April 5 in Federal Court.

This is the Picture No. 1 in the story about Sergt. Frank Lewenberg of Newton on this page. Frank is holding a gift package containing a sweater and a pair of socks . . . sent to him by Mrs. Abraham E. Pinanski and Miss Marion Cameron of Brookline.

Newton Soldier Sends Photo Thanks for Gift

One picture is better than 10,000 words in the Army lexicon of Sergt. Frank Lewenberg of Newton, as witness the unique pictorial form of acknowledging gifts from home that the North African campaigner has devised.

Mrs. Abraham E. Pinanski and Miss Marion Cameron of Brookline sent Sergt. Frank a sweater and a pair of socks. They got back a thank-you note in the form of three pictures. In Picture No. 1 Frank is holding the package as it arrived from the United States.

The sergeant holds the sweater and socks up to view in Picture No. 2, and in Picture No. 3 he has stripped off his overseas boots to don the socks and sweater.

But he can also write a good letter. From "Somewhere in North Africa," Jan. 6, 1943, Sergt. Lewenberg describes Christmas Eve on the fighting front. He says:

"We all went to midnight mass here at the field. As we stood listening to the voices of the men singing "Glory to the New Born King" we were all thinking of future eves when once again peace will reign throughout the world.

"Father Maguire, our Chaplain, has an office over near our dark room, so that when we go over at night to work, he frequently drops in for a chat with us. The other night we talked and ate oranges until almost two in the morning. He has spent a great deal of time in Austria, and I never tire of hearing him tell of conditions there several years ago."

Sergt. Lewenberg, son of Mrs. Solomon Lewenberg of Grant ave., Newton, graduated from Newton High School and attended Franklin and Marshall College. He was employed at Gilchrist Co. before he volunteered for the Air Corps.

Colo. Would Bar Horsemeat Sale

DENVER, Jan. 20 (INS)—A bill before the State Legislature today would make the sale of horsemeat in Colorado illegal. Sponsored by two state Senators, the measure would impose a $1000 fine, a year's jail sentence, or both, upon any person who sold horse meat for human consumption.

CHENEY'S MEASURED VITAMINS

SCIENTIFIC nutrition surveys show that many present day diets do not provide a sufficiency of Vitamin B Complex for the highest state of health. Countless thousands of people who are not actually sick suffer continually from discomforts and minor ailments which put them below par physically because of Vitamin B deficiency. Since diets deficient in one factor of the whole Vitamin B Complex rarely contain adequate amounts of other factors, administration of the entire complex is frequently indicated. The great lack of Vitamin B Components in the average American diet has been pointed out time and time again in literature on nutrition. The increasing use of highly refined foods; the decortication, or overmilling of our grain; the fact that B is water soluble and is likely to be lost when water in which food is cooked is discarded are factors that lead to deficiency. Present studies indicate that the body cannot store enough of this Vitamin B Complex to meet requirements for any considerable time. Cheney's whole B Complex has a natural dried yeast base, strengthened and fortified, containing all the factors of B Complex in balance.

1077 Bay State Draft Delinquents

Massachusetts has 1077 draft delinquents, state selective service headquarters announced today. Only 23 of the state's 173 local draft boards reported no "missing" men, officials said, but they frankly admitted they do not know how many of those unaccounted for may have enlisted in either the armed services or the merchant marine.

However, draft authorities asserted, all names have been turned over to U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, and delinquents may expect action shortly.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders, and hands never suspect that these pains may be caused, in some cases, by excessive acids within the body.

As a dietary aid in the faster neutralization of these excessive acids which in turn may tend to bring speedier pain relief Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets were invented by a well-known food nutritionist. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

MALDEN BROTHERS ENJOY REUNION IN GUADALCANAL

A Malden soldier and his sailor brother who hadn't seen each other for more than a year had a grand reunion in Guadalcanal during a recent battle lull.

The happy pair, Pvt. William A. Gilligan, 21, member of a famous Massachusetts infantry regiment, and Seaman John J. Gilligan, 19, crew members of a fighting Navy supply ship that braved Jap subs and planes to deliver its sorely needed cargo, lost no time in writing home about the surprise meeting.

John Gilligan

Mrs. Helen Daly of 18 Ellis st., Malden, mother of the two servicemen, received their letters a day apart.

Mrs. Daly's first husband, father of the two boys, was killed in a tragic oil explosion more than a dozen years ago.

Soldier Bill, an Army veteran of two years, has seen more than a year in foreign service, and Sailor Jack enlisted in the Navy in Boston only four months ago.

SURPRISE OF HIS LIFE

The Guadalcanal letters follow:

Dear Mother:

I was sitting in my tent today when I heard some of the gang bellow, "Gilligan, Gilligan." I rushed out to see what the commotion was all about. A sailor stood with his back to me and when he turned it was our Jackie.

What a surprise! We were both a bit stunned at first, but the next moment we were pounding each other on the back and shooting questions like they were coming out of tommy gun.

When we calmed down I took Jack into the tent. I didn't have a thing to offer him, but one of my tent mates had received a package and he broke it open and shoved it between us and left.

Of course I had to know how everybody was, what they were doing, and all the local news of Malden, Boston and things like that.

You needn't worry about Jackie, Mother, he's in great shape and looks the picture of health. The Navy life sure agrees with him.

Your loving son,
Billy.

SAILOR JACK WRITES

Somewhere at Sea

Dearest Mother:

Here's a swell believe it or not for you. I met Billy on Guadalcanal! We couldn't believe our eyes when his buddies called him out of his tent to see me. I can't tell you here how I happened to decide to check up and see if Billy were really here.

I'm stationed on the U. S. S. (censored) now. And that's another surprising thing. This is the same ship that brought Billy and his gang over here to fight the Japs.

Billy looked swell. We spent the few hours shore leave I had in talking about home. I dished up all the local news I could remember and Billy sure gobbled it up.

Give my love to the family and say hello to my friends for me.

Love,
Jackie.

ROLL DICE INTO JAWS OF DEATH

Yanks in Africa Cool Tho' War Hot

By WES GALLAGHER

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN TUNISIA, Jan. 7 (Delayed) (AP)—Pen snapshots of a 2700-mile tour of the North African war front by jeep and Flying Fortress:

They were on their way to the front and possible death but you'd never have guessed it as you passed their convoy. They were four American infantrymen crouched under a truck's canvas nonchalantly shooting craps. A British soldier sitting on the steel tailgate was reading a Western Story magazine.

Camels plodding along with their ragged Arab drivers as tanks rumbled by. The old with the new. Tattered garments characteristic of North Africa, which has been stripped of all textiles by the German-Italian armistice commission.

A thousand feet up in a remote mountain pass near Letef in Central Tunisia we came across an Arab child blue with cold and being dragged along the road by his mother. All he was wearing in the snow was a piece of torn sheeting.

The thing the diplomats try so hard to achieve—mostly unsuccessfully—"just happens" at the front: Mutual trust and genuine friendship among the French, Americans and British. In a village on the northern front, American mechanics were teaching French parachutists how to play baseball, and in the next street British Tommies were instructing French Arab youngsters in the fine art of soccer.

He was a doctor from a British parachute battalion named Capt. Michael Haggie. Fresh out of medical school, he was giving parachutists a "dressing down" for not reporting minor wounds because they didn't want to be sent back. It was a fine lecture. but in Haggie's neck was a mortar shell fragment covered by a bit of gauze—remnant of an attempt to rescue six wounded men in a no man's land near Mateur. His wound wasn't reported, either.

Here's the inventor of a new-type anti-tank bomb. He lisped, had a neat moustache and carried a handkerchief in his sleeve. He looked like a shoe clerk. Before joining the parachutists, he had never used explosives.

"We had a bit of fun night before last," he said with a quiet smile. "We went out on patrol and along came a Jerry motorcyclist. My sergeant and I let fire from six feet. Simply blew him and the cycle to bits, old chap. Worked perfectly. We were blown into a ditch ourselves and couldn't see for 10 minutes as a result of the blast. But it simply worked perfectly."

MISSING NAVY MAN RESCUED

Reported missing in action a week ago today, John H. Kelly, 23, of Marion st., Somerville, has been rescued. The Navy Department has notified his aunt, Mrs. Florence Herrick, with whom he made his home.

John H. Kelly

Mrs. Herrick, was overjoyed today when the telegram was read to her over the telephone after word Wednesday that he was missing in action.

No details of the rescue were given.

Young Kelly enlisted in the U. S. Navy last February two months after Pearl Harbor. His aunt last heard from him in August.

He was born in Cambridge and since he was six years of age, has made his home with his aunt in Somerville. Another brother, Ralph Robert Kelly, 28, who also made his home with Mrs. Herrick, is in the U. S. Navy.

CIO Asks Ceilings To Halt Food Rise

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20 (AP)—The CIO, asserting that rationing and price control so far have not been "sufficiently vigorous or far-reaching," advocated today "immediate overall rationing of all foods and other necessities" and "the effective enforcement of price ceilings."

CIO President Philip Murray says:

"Food prices have risen to an alarming degree—some 40 per cent above prewar levels. Many low-income workers' families are thus deprived of the food and other necessities they need to be able to produce at top efficiency."

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe, mixed in your own kitchen. It gives you about four times as much cough syrup for your money, and you'll find it wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. (You can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

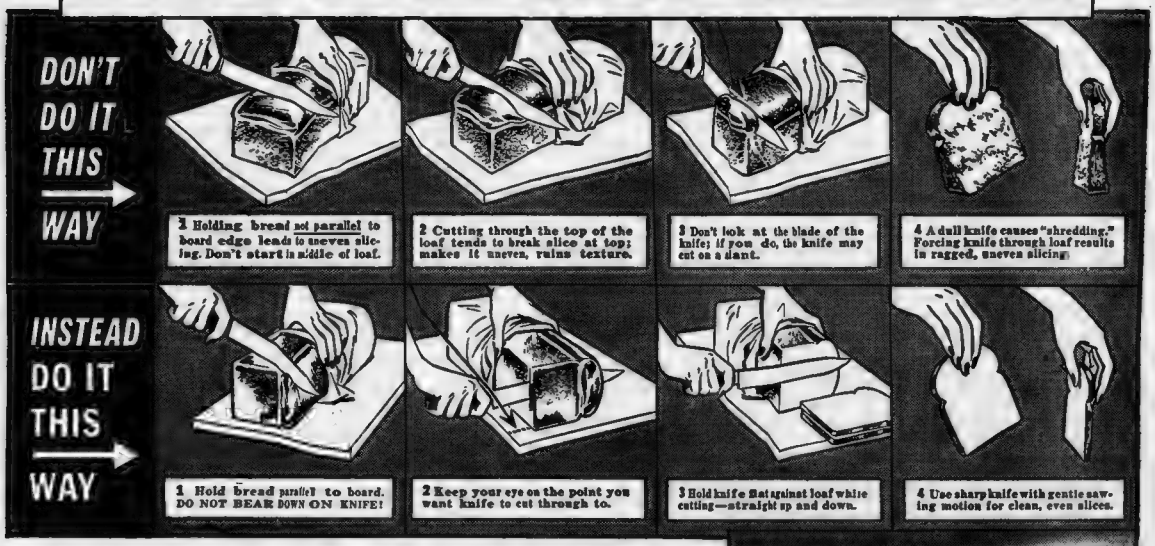
LADY! SHARPEN YOUR BREAD KNIFE

Effective Monday, January 18th, The Slicing Of Bread By Bakers Prohibited By The Food Administrator As A War Measure...So Now You Must Slice Your Own

HOW TO SLICE BREAD AND GET EACH SLICE EVEN



DON'T DO IT THIS WAY
1 Holding bread not parallel to board edge leads to uneven slicing. Don't start in middle of loaf.
2 Cutting through the top of the loaf tends to break slices at top; makes it uneven, ruins texture.
3 Don't look at the blade of the knife; if you do, the knife may cut on a slant.
4 A dull knife causes "shredding." Forcing knife through loaf results in ragged, uneven slicing.
INSTEAD DO IT THIS WAY
1 Hold bread parallel to board. DO NOT BEAR DOWN ON KNIFE!
2 Keep your eye on the point you want knife to cut through to.
3 Hold knife flat against loaf while cutting—straight up and down.
4 Use sharp knife with gentle sawing motion for clean, even slices.

GET WONDER BREAD

Slo-baked texture—easy to slice!
Brings you Vitamin B_1

You will want to save the important chart you see above.

These pictures show what not to do and what to do in order to slice today's unsliced bread and get each slice even—top to bottom and across.

Now more than ever before you'll appreciate the easy slicing, firm tenderness of slo-baked Wonder Bread.

In addition, Wonder Bread contains Vitamin B_1. Which vitamin, science discovers, is necessary in order to help transform bread into energy properly.

And 3 out of 4 people fail to get plenty of Vitamin B_1 in their diet naturally, according to figures from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Then, too, Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

So get this easy-to-slice, doubly fresh Wonder Bread from your grocer today. You'll be glad you did!

Fashion

IT'S THE NEW ANGLE at which the sailor hat is to be worn . . . the spring hat fashion which is going to be most important, so it seems . . . tilted back, but not on the back of the head. And it's a wide-brimmed sailor, much like the boaters the men wore in Gibson girl days . . . with a sailorish button in the middle of the crown! A distinct change from the tiny sailors of past years. Madame Pauline's latest showing was fraught with such intriguing new things . . . the vivid green straw with a buttercup yellow band, ensembled with a yellow linen sailor collar.—ANNICE BRINK.

'Cream Concentrate' Helps Sensitive Skins

Beauty

By ARLINE GOULD

IF YOUR SKIN is on the "mild" problem side . . . that is, it doesn't run to great eruptions, but the texture is marred by open pores, and blackheads are never completely under control . . . then you will want a really fine "cream concentrate," the pride of a specialist in sensitive skin preparations.

While it is among a famous group of cosmetics, it has perhaps the most serious purpose among them . . . that of corrective treatment. Therefore it has a slight medicated scent, and it is a heavy-bodied cream, one to be used with a little special care.

They say one reason for this heavy body is that there is absolutely no air and no water in the "cream concentrate," making it a truly remarkable buy . . . when you consider that in the first place it is only $1.95 for a half-pound jar. If you have troubled young skins in the family, this large-size jar is a mercy . . . for they should use it every day, and you'll need a lot of it around.

CREAM CLEARS OUT PORES

This cream has a very special action . . . it clears out pores of impurities, and in this way it brings about the refinement of skin texture to an incredible degree . . . so the whole appearance of the complexion is bettered. It emulsifies in the bottom of the pore, as you use it every day it eventually dissolves all the sebum and other secretions in the pore which don't belong there . . . and thus the skin is perfectly clarified.

It's also wonderful for those quite prevalent complexions . . . the kind that are dry elsewhere, but shiny and oily around the nose. These, of course, get the cream concentrate treatment locally, only.

In using this rich, ivory tinted cream . . . apply it generously with the finger-tips . . . and LEAVE IT ON FIVE MINUTES . . . otherwise you waste time and cream! Then remove it with a washcloth that's been wrung out in HOT water.

To learn about this unusual "cream concentrate" for large pores, blackheads and over-oiliness, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—If your skin compares unfavorably with the daisies you tuck in your hair or the pearls you swathe around your throat . . . then get after the pore-blemishes or rough, open texture that spoil it! Arline Gould suggests a deep-cleansing corrective "cream concentrate." Jane Wyman poses.

Salute Code Of Army, Navy

Copyright, 1943, King Features Synd., Inc.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Does a private salute all officers in the Army or just his own superiors? Does a sailor salute all officers in the Navy or just his commanding officer?

PUZZLED.

The military salute is the courteous recognition between members of the armed forces of our country. The salute is a privilege enjoyed only by members of the military service in good standing; prisoners do not have the right to salute.

Those entitled to it are all officers of our Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. The Army salutes the Navy and vice versa. It is also customary to salute officers of friendly foreign countries when they are in uniform.

PASS THE GRAVY!

It Spreads Meat

By MARTHA LEE

AS THE WAR CONTINUES, meat becomes comes more precious and the home cook has the job of making meat flavor go a long way.

One suggestion for spreading the meat and saving the flavor is to use sauces. You can give and get more servings with gravy. Remember to treasure all tidbits of meat, scraps of fat, and drippings. Scrape the serving platter clean—and the cooking pan, too. Some of the finest meat flavor for sauce and gravy may be "browned" on the bottom of the pan. Don't make the mistake of washing it away in the dish pan.

And remember that the secret of making a smooth thickened sauce or gravy is to blend flour with fat in equal quantity, then add cool or lukewarm liquid gradually while stirring the mixture over low heat.

Several different liquids may be used in making sauce or gravy. The juice that cooks out of roasted or braised meat, or broth made by stewing bones is best for a brown gravy. Tomato juice may also be used, or the liquid drained off cooked vegetables. Water or milk or a mixture of these are also used.

CREAM GRAVY

3 tbsp. fat 3 tbsp. flour ¾ tsp. salt
2 cups milk, or 1 cup milk and 1 cup thin cream

After meat is fried, pour off all except 3 tbsp. of the fat from the skillet. To this remaining fat, add 3 tbsp. flour, and stir smooth. Then stir in salt and milk. Cook until thickened, while stirring; then serve with or over fried chicken, or over pork chops or meat patties.

BROWN SAUCE

1 cup meat stock or bouillon
2 tbsp. butter or drippings
1 tbsp. minced onion ½ bay leaf
1 tbsp. minced carrot 2 tbsp. flour
1 small sprig thyme Salt and pepper

Melt butter or drippings in small saucepan, add onion, carrot, thyme and bayleaf; cook over low heat until butter is slightly brown. Stir in flour, and when well blended and well browned, add stock, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils. Strain and season to taste with salt and pepper.

GROUND MEAT SAUCE

One of the most popular, economical and useful sauces for stretching meat is ground meat sauce. Use any kind of ground raw meat—beef, pork, lamb, veal—and brown in a skillet with a little fat. Then add chopped onion, chopped green pepper, and tomatoes. Cook until the onion is tender. Season with salt and pepper. Serve over spaghetti, macaroni, rice, or potatoes. This makes a one-dish meal.

TOMATO SAUCES

Popular sauces made with tomatoes are: tomato gravy made of tomato juice added to the meat drippings in the pan; tomato sauce made of flour, fat, cooked tomatoes seasoned with bay leaf, allspice, onion, cloves, pepper and salt; barbecue sauce, a sweet-sour highly seasoned tomato sauce made partly with meat broth; and Spanish or Creole sauce which has chopped cooked ham or bacon added to the tomato mixture.

EVERYTHING APPEARS ROSY IN SPRING DRESSES, HATS

By BETTINA BEDWELL

MAYBE it's part of the more romantic feeling our hard-boiled era is showing about life, but anyway there is a noticeable return to printed materials that have sweet roses rambling over them in a pattern.

Some of the prettiest dresses and suits slated for spring are made of rose-patterned materials. And then the way roses are peeping over the brims of spring sailors, coyly lurking in necklines of dresses, or at the belts of others, makes me feel that a rose is a rose is a rose, as Gertrude Stein says, but that it is also an insigne of the styles.

Miss Dulin has sketched a Charles Armour suit-dress made of navy crepe covered with scattered pink roses, which is one of many I've seen. The jacket buttons down the front on ceramic buttons shaped like roses. Ruffles of the material set down the side seams of the front of the jacket give it the softness that is very important this season

USE FIRST NAMES?

WHETHER or not you'll use first names in addressing your co-workers is a matter of office custom. A newcomer in an office should not be too quick to call "Miss Jones"—"Helen." Under no circumstances is it permissible to call her "Jones" or Jonesy!"

A Wise Concession

THE DECISION of the OPA gasoline rationing division to permit motorists to use their cars for shopping is timely and sensible.

In many instances it will actually result in a saving of fuel, for merchandise which purchasers carry home themselves will not have to be delivered by the stores.

Moreover, our patriotic New England women can be relied upon to organize shopping parties, make one automobile do the work of three, and thus conserve more gasoline than even the government administrators expect.

Boston, traditional shopping center of Massachusetts and surrounding states, is more attractive now than ever before.

Thanks to our convenient transportation systems, it is possible to visit a dozen stores in a day and obtain everything one wants without using an ounce of gasoline.

There is fun in shopping in Boston, but it is not the kind of fun that comes under the OPA ban. Shopping in Boston makes dollars go farther and permits people to put more aside for taxes and war bonds.

WE ARE PLEASED to communicate the American Red Cross' appeal for blood donors to our readers.

The Army and Navy have set a quota of four million pints of blood for procurement this year.

This is more than three times the amount volunteers donated at Red Cross centers during 1942.

At the Boston center, 691 Boylston street, the requirement will raise the quota from the present 3000 pints a week to 5000.

It is hard to imagine a more worthy cause. Hundreds of soldiers' and sailors' lives have been saved by this blood, and hundreds of others will be similarly spared in the fighting yet to come.

We therefore urge all healthy New Englanders to support this truly charitable and patriotic work and to visit a Red Cross center without delay.

EQUALLY DESERVING of co-operation is Uncle Sam's campaign to obtain quinine and other cinchona alkaloids for the armed forces.

At the present time the United States is virtually cut off from these drugs by the Japanese occupation of the Dutch East Indies, but the fact that those islands are in enemy hands does not minimize the need of a constant supply of the precious medicine for our boys in the fever-ridden tropics.

It is estimated that more than a hundred thousand ounces of quinine are on the shelves of retail prescription rooms and dispensaries in this country at the present time.

There is almost as large an amount in family medicine chests.

Every grain should be donated to the Government, for even that infinitesimal quantity can be the difference between life and death to a malaria sufferer in the South Pacific.

A HAPPIER TOMORROW is confidentially predicted for the people of America by Mr. Theodore G. Joslin, public relations director of the E. I. duPont deNemours Company, who says:

"Today, we produce to destroy, but in the future we shall build to multiply our possessions. And this postwar world will make the present era a 'horse and buggy' age."

Mr. Joslin, principal speaker at the recent Boston wartime sales management conference, goes on to forecast such marvels as:—

Glass that floats and is unbreakable; wood that will not burn; hosiery derived from air, water and coal; automatic lighting, governed by electric "eyes"; cheaper and better homes, and more efficient heating systems.

"And," he concludes, "the country a decade hence will be dotted with air fields, for the plane will have become the favorite vehicle for the moderate income class."

We have made similar prophecies many times in the past, so we are naturally pleased to have our views confirmed by an illustrious authority.

War may halt the wheels of progress, but it cannot stop them. The onward march of civilization will continue, despite the setbacks. American ingenuity can and most certainly will forge ahead.

ATTRACTIVE CAREERS beckon to 65,000 American young women this year.

Paul V. McNutt, director of the nation's health and welfare, assures us this number will be encouraged to enter the nursing profession.

Our Boston hospitals are offering splendid courses, and so are most of the similar institutions in New England.

Of course, the salary is considerably less than that of the average defense worker, and the hours are usually long.

But the girl who becomes a nurse acquires a means of livelihood that will serve her always, in peacetime as well as wartime.

Thus, the girl who studies nursing at this time not only helps her country but helps herself as well.

While the loitering idler waits
Good luck beside his fire,
The bold heart storms at Fortune's gates
And conquers its desire.
—L. J. BATES.

THERE have been poems and observations as to luck and opportunity, but my favorite is still the old saying, "Luck is when preparation meets opportunity . . . When Bob Feller was seven years old hs father started him practicing pitching. When Bobby Jones was seven his father gave him a set of golf clubs for Christmas. If you want your son to be a champion or a star in baseball, football or golf you better get him interested in the chosen sport early in life . . . A young matron who says she likes to combine the old and the new in furnishing and decorating her house asks for a quotation for a wall motto to hang in the living room. "Something about the peace and quiet one finds at home these days," she says. How about this excerpt from a poem by Dora Greenwell:

A world of care without,
A world of strife shut out,
A world of love shut in.

ASIDES: A New Yorker is reported to have recently stated he was in draft class 5-B—Baldness, bridgework, bifocals, baywindow and bunions . . . The American Indians didn't think much of turkeys as food; the Red Men raised these birds for their feathers. I once liked turkey better than chicken, but now it is the other way around. Are the chickens getting better or could it be the way they are cooked? . . . A young woman of Manhattan states she has had three terrific shocks in her life, one of which was when she was present at a meeting in which Charles Boyer spoke for the French war charities. What shocked the young woman was that Mr. Boyer, with an astonishing disregard for the feelings of his vast feminine following, appeared minus his toupee.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Arthur Brisbane before the first Dempsey-Tunney fight wrote: "A gorilla could lick them both." Discussing this a pal and myself got into an argument as to the height and weight of a full grown gorilla. Can you help us? A—A good husky gorilla usually weighs about 500 pounds and is 6 feet tall. If aroused he could grab a horse and toss him over a fence or crush him to death. So I guess Mr. Brisbane was right . . . Q—What do you think of the idea of making a film of Hitler's Mein Kampf? A—After the war perhaps it would be interesting. Right now I think Hitler is played up too much.

PASSING BY: Robert Moore. Appearing in the soldier show, "This Is the Army." He is the son of Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield, who as a vaudeville team appeared in one of the three funniest acts of all time. I am referring to "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods." The two other funniest acts were Edmond Hayes in the piano movers and the Avon Comedy Four . . .

If you can state offhand in what talking picture Ethel sang "Am I Blue," you have a good memory . . . Pamela Blake. Cinema cutie. Her recent marriage was completed in the record time of three minutes. I don't remember how long our marriage ceremony lasted, Neither does my girl friend. We weren't in the movies and had nobody there to clock the event.

SIDELIGHTS: A Californian who went to court to have his name changed told the judge he was so doing "because of reasons of numerology and astrology." The judge said that was a "silly reason" for a man to change his name. Maybe it is and maybe it isn't. I have a reader named Irene Hobson, who claims when she put an "H" in her name for reasons of numerology she tripled her income . . . Considering how difficult it is to get hold of a bit of steak, roast beef, etc., it would seem that two books which every home manager should have at this time are those titled: "Two Hundred and Fifty Ways to Prepare Poultry and Game Birds" and "Two Hundred and Fifty Ways to Prepare Sea Food" . . . Dr. Lee De Forrest, distinguished inventor who is now 69, proudly states he walks 20 miles a day. That makes me ashamed of myself. I walk only 10 miles a day.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Contemporary says Florence Mills sang "I'm Just Wild About Harry" in "Shuffle Along." I think not. Florence was just a chorus girl at that time . . . More provision should be made by the rationing experts for sick people who need steak, roast beef and so forth to build them up. In our vicinity the only way you can be certain of getting a steak or roast beef on a state day is to go to a restaurant . . . Excerpt from the United States News: "British business men want to know whether the United States will insist upon some return for lend-lease or regard it as a gift" . . . "When I was in San Francisco I saw a bus in a collision with a Japanese submarine." If somebody makes that statement to you don't immediately jump to the conclusion that he is balmy. During a bond drive in San Francisco a captured Japanese submarine was hauled about the city in a truck which collided with a bus.

ADVISES GIRLS LEARN TRADE, PREPARE FOR THE FUTURE

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

(Copyright, 1943, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK CITY, TUESDAY—There is a school in Fort Wayne, Ind., where they have formed a society which they call the "SIRS." It stands for Sisters International Radio Society, and the executive secretary, Miss Jane Kettler, has written me two letters.

I hope this radio school has given its pupils excellent training in radio, but, whether it has or not, it certainly has given them enthusiasm and a vision of what lies before them in the way of opportunity after their basic training.

They tell me that many of them are studying the international code in preparation for joining the WAACS and WAVES; that others are preparing to go into communications under the civil service requirements.

Others have been able to go into the local electrical manufacturing plant and gain promotions and feel great satisfaction because they are participating in a tangible way in the war effort.

I KNOW that in many of the NYA projects more and more girls are being trained in the fundamentals of radio work. I imagine that there are many industries also conducting schools for various occupations growing out of a knowledge of some kind of radio work.

I feel that girls and women who go into work now which has an opportunity for future development along new lines are very wise. The men coming home have been promised that their jobs would be held for them, and without any question they should be.

Therefore, I think women are wise to learn new trades, with a realization that, as population increases we shall need not only more of the old goods, but we shall need more workers for new developments.

IT IS TRUE that many inventions will curtail the need for manpower. We must also count on labor saving devices, because we shall want more goods at cheaper prices ,and labor is usually the greatest cost. Therefore, new inventions are very important, since they are the surest way of increasing our need for labor.

I am interested to find that even among some of my own contemporaries there is a growing feeling that the younger generation will come through this war with more vision, knowledge and imagination about the future than was the case with the men and women who were young after the last war.

Therefore, we may rely on their pushing new ideas and accepting and developing them.

Virginia Bruce skipping into the Hotel Plaza—those movie girls certainly decorate the town! . . . Edmund O'Brien, in Sardi's, kissing Renee Carroll goodbye—he dons khaki next week . . . The Ray Bolgers polishing the parquet at El Morocco with their talented tootsies . . . A STONE'S THROW FROM BROADWAY: Henry Youngman spellbound his listeners in Reuben's the other night with a description of a private car he saw on the streets that day. "If I ever see another one," he promised, "I'll let you know." If you see Nan Wynn in a navy blue frock, and notice a few inches of white below the hemline, don't bother telling her her slip is showing. She wants it that way to conform with the "wear something white in the dimout" plea. Besides, it looks fetching . . . Art Jarrett, the orchestra leader, and former spouse of Eleanor Holm Rose, is playing a Newark theater currently, and the other night he took a trip to Manhattan to show the town to his pretty new vocalist, Elizabeth Rogers. It was her first visit to the Big City. Where does she come from? Keokuk? San Antonio? Lincoln, Nebraska? No indeed! She was born in Newark, N. J.

THE MARCH of EVENTS

By BENJAMIN DECASSERES

SNAP JUDGMENTS on the general results of elections are generally unbalanced and emotional. We do not see clearly when the blood of battle is still in our eye. At this distance, however, it is possible to appraise what happened on November 3 last. It was nothing less than a political revolution.

WHY? THE ANSWER begins to shape itself historically. The people, having been on something of a radical New Deal "bender," came out of it very sick. They demanded a return to old-line Americanism and the end of peace-time paternalism. November 3 was the triumph of fundamental America over alien-minded crackpots.

HOWEVER, Dr. Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, says that the dominant factor in the last election was "lack of interest." It is estimated that at a time when democracy should be showing off at its best 20,000,000 persons did not exercise their right to vote in one of the few countries left where people can vote for any one they please.

THIS IS A DANGEROUS state of affairs, and bears out the statement of an eminent historian that democracies perish from within. When at least one-third of our electorate does not go to the polls in a national election (for a congressional election is a national election) then we have a sixth column within as dangerous to us as the Commufascists—more so, in fact, for it is an American "column."

President Rosevelt in one of his radio addresses spoke of "proper judicial procedure" in the "trial" of the war-criminals of Europe and Asia. What would the dead of America, England, France, Holland, Greece and Czechoslovakia say to "judicial procedure" in "ascertaining the guilt" of these murderers and torturers?

AS GABRIEL HEATTER remarked, what do you think the American, British and French dead in the first World War would say if some one told them that the Kaiser and all his family, Ludendorff, Von Tirpitz and Hindenburg lived on the fat of the land for years after the war and that every clause of the Versailles Treaty had been violated?

DR. GEORGE HORACE GALLUP

Is He Right, or Was Last Election a Political Revolution?

IF THE 10-YEAR PEACE PACT signed on August 26, 1939, between Hitler and Stalin were still in force (and Russia and Germany were therefore at peace) where would the Communist leaders of the United States be today.

Mentally, most of them would be pro-Hitler and physically they would be in jail as traitors and saboteurs, while the Daily Worker would probably be closed up by the FBI.

I HAVE POINTED OUT here over and over how the treatment of postoffice employes is an indication of the deal all workers would get under State Socialism. There is also another danger from the post office to our liberties. It is irresponsible censorship. The postmaster general can, by fiat, put second-class mailing privileges into the first class if he doesn't happen to like a newspaper or magazine. He can declare it "obscene" or for political reasons stop its circulation by mail.

TO ME THESE PROCEEDINGS are unconstitutional, un-American and pro-Hitlerian.

One might write a book on the evolution of hypocrisy in dictator-conquerors. Alexander, Darius, Julius Caesar, Genghis Khan, Charles the Twelfth and others conquered for the sake of swiping and killing.

Today the reincarnation of these gangsters put on moral masks.

JOHN STEINBECK PENS COMEDY DIRECT FOR SCREEN

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20—There was a time when John Steinbeck threatened to become another Ben Hecht, turning up his nose at anything connected with the movies. But reformation set in and now he's one of the biggest screen boosters, particularly about the way his own books and plays like "Grapes of Wrath," "Tortilla Flat" and "The Moon Is Down" have turned out. They are all top movies.

Steinbeck now has written his first original direct for the screen, a modern comedy of Army life titled "A Medal for Benny." Paramount has grabbed it at a fancy price and Dorothy Lamour, Fred MacMurray and Akim Tamiroff are scheduled to head the cast. John Wagner, a gag writer, is co-author with Steinbeck. A couple of years ago Steinbeck wouldn't have nodded to a "gag."

INGRID BERGMAN

I NOW CAN UNDERSTAND Sam Wood's insistence that Ingrid Bergman is right for "Saratoga Trunk" after seeing her in "Casablanca." She is so lovely and genuine, never phony in her love scenes, nor in her dramatic moments.

I have felt she lacked the fire of Clio, but she is an actress, and even though she may not be the fiery vivacious girl Edna Ferber describes in her novel, she will be an exciting Clio. Sam told me he thinks a foreign actress should play opposite Gary Cooper—and, well, I heard today that now it is settled.

WHEN I ASKED GREGORY Ratoff to tell me about "Dark Eyes," Eugenie Leontovich's new play, he said: "Don't write a word until we see what happens. If it is a hit, write a story. If it isn't let her come back to me and we won't say a word." I would hate to say that Gregory, who adores his wife, didn't want her play to be a hit, but he does miss her so much.

Anyhow, "Dark Eyes," written by Leontovich and another Russian, Elena Miramova, is over the top, according to New York reviews. And if Gregory weren't so busy working with Joe Pasternak on his play, "Russia," he probably would catch a plane and fly back. He tells me "Russia" is not postponed. It will go into production the minute they have a cast.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Pat Dane, who is always good copy because she does the unexpected, has kept a dinner date every night for two weeks with Tommy Dorsey, orchestra leader. So I asked her how serious her intentions were and vice versa. "I'll know in a week," she confided. "Divorce?" I queried. "No. Tommy has been legally separated from his wife for two years and I am divorced longer than that."

Seems Pat had a husband in her past which I didn't know until she told me. I suspect she is waiting to hear from Maj. Anatole Litvak, to whom she writes regularly before it is off with the old love and on with the new.

TODAY CHARLES WENDLING, brother of Claudette Colbert, gained a wife and she lost a secretary. He was married to Patricia Donahue at Las Vegas after a whirlwind courtship. When Claudette came home the other eve she found both of them waiting for her to break the news. It wasn't a new experience for Claudette to lose a secretary to her brother, for his last wife, Grace Kern, had also held that job.

Patricia assured her boss (and her new sister-in-law) that she would not leave her in the midst of a picture and that when she returned from her honeymoon would continue on her job until Claudette got another secretary.

Charles was recently given an honorable discharge from the Navy because he is past the 38-year age limit. He is with the Feldman-Blum agency and handles Claudette's movie affairs.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Mary McCall, 'tis whispered, has her next groom selected—a soldier boy; Carole Landis will stop in Florida before she comes home to meet the new mother-in-law, Mrs. John E. Wallace, who is wintering there; Ted North, who was Mary Beth Hughes' big moment, is now spending his time with Gail Robbins; Howard Dietz, due in Hollywood any minute, will try to sign Mary Martin for his new musical; Marie McDonald, Vic Orsatti's bride, was pelted with rice when she returned to the studio for her movie, "Riding High"; Venita Varden really closed her country place in style with a party, the like of which has not been given since the war. An orchestra and gold braid were much in evidence with the Army well represented; Madeleine Le Beau's new boy friend is Bill Edwards, Paramount actor; Walter Kane, handsome in his uniform, attracting the eye of some of our glamour girls. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

'Beau Geste' In Revival Run At Normandie

The role of the brutal sergeant, Markoff, in "Beau Geste," second in importance only to the central characters of the story, the gallant Geste brothers, called for an actor who could fully grasp the sheer savagery of the character as written into it in the great novel by P. C. Wren on which the Paramount drama is based.

The picture, dramatizing the enduring love of brother for brother, is being revived currently on the Normandie screen with Gary Cooper, Ray Milland and Robert Preston in the roles of the gallant Geste brothers. Brian Donlevy is seen in the Markoff role. Producer-director William A. Wellman's reasons for his choice lie in Donlevy's physical makeup as well as in his ability as an actor.

The story of "Beau Geste" finds the three Geste brothers, Beau, John and Digby, played by Cooper, Milland and Preston, joining the legion in order that no one of them shall be thought guilty of the theft from their guardian of a valuable jewel, the "Blue Water" sapphire.

It shows them hounded at a desert outpost, Ft. Zinderneuf, by Markoff, who believes that one of them has the gem in his possession. It shows them loyal to the last, fighting against wild desert tribes.

Scott to Play in 'This Rock'

Zachary Scott, who appeared here earlier this season with Flora Robson in "The Damask Cheek," will be featured with Billie Burke in the new Eddie Dowling comedy, "This Rock," which opens a two weeks' engagement at the Plymouth a week from Monday, Feb. 1.

Jane Sterling is also featured in the cast, which includes Nicholas Joy and Alistair Kyle. "This Rock" is concerned with an aristocratic English family whose quiet life is rudely changed when 20 youthful evacuees from London's East End are suddenly thrust upon them. It marks Billie Burke's first stage appearance in the East in ten years.

'Pinocchio' at Jordan Hall Saturday

"Pinocchio," the beloved childhood classic about the long-nosed puppet who come to life, will be brought to Jordan Hall, Saturday morning, Feb. 6, at 10:15 o'clock, by the Clare Tree Major Children's Theater of New York.

Sponsored by the Women's International League for the fifth season, these plays have grown steadily more popular, and many patrons have subscribed for the four being seen this season.

"Pinocchio" is the second in the series.

'Once Upon A Honeymoon' Held 4th Week

The "Honeymoon" continues and everybody is happy at Keith Memorial.

Meaning, boys and girls, that the Ginger Rogers-Cary Grant starring adventure romance, "Once Upon a Honeymoon," today begins its fourth successful week at the popular Washington st. movie house.

The greatest variety of customers are enjoying this most amazing of honeymoons, in which Grant is cast as an American newspaper correspondent who falls in love with a title-seeking American dancer, Miss Rogers.

The dancer has just married a German baron, who is also a Nazi biggie, and Grant spends his time following the couple trying to make Ginger see the light. Everywhere the baron is seen disaster strikes. After a hectic trip across Europe to Nazi-occupied Paris, Ginger finally heeds Cary's advice, leaves her sinister husband and flees with Grant. How the Americans give the Gestapo the bird is worth your chuckles.

The co-feature, "The Great Gildersleeve," with Harold Peary, continues on Keith Memorial screen as does "Der Fuehrer's Face," the Walt Disney smash short.

'You, John Jones' Opens Tomorrow

The finest talent from all fields of the motion picture industry, combined their skill to make the War Activities Committee short subject, "You, John Jones," which opens at all first-run intown Boston theaters starting tomorrow. It is a feature of the current United Nations appeal.

The cast is headed by James Cagney who plays the part of John Jones, aircraft worker, air raid warden and father. Ann Sothern plays Cagney's wife, and little 5-year-old Margaret O'Brien, who captured the nation's heart in "Journey for Margaret," is their daughter.

The picture was written and produced by Carey Wilson, producer of the Andy Hardy series. Mervyn Leroy, whose latest effort, "Random Harvest," is receiving wide acclaim, directed.

The musical score was handled by Nathaniel Shilkret and Max Terr, both of whom were responsible for the score of "Random Harvest." Joe Ruttenberg, one of Hollywood's leading camera men, directed the photography.

John J. Scully Back to Boston

John J. Scully, widely known motion picture executive, for many years prominent in New England movie circles, returns here as head of Universal Pictures Company's Boston branch.

Scully is one of the pioneers of the motion picture industry, having been advance man for the first road show motion picture which was released during the period of World War I, D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World," subsequently joining the then Famous Players Lasky Corporation.

Later he pioneered in opening up a short subject motion picture market, being associated with Educational Film Exchanges, Inc., at Boston for a period of years, and then was appointed a division sales manager of that company covering the territory between Boston and Atlanta.

Scully also established a sales and distribution outlet for the Gaumont British Pictures in the United States, having charge of the sales of this English product from Boston to Cleveland with headquarters in New York city.

Arabian Nights Stars Are Here In Person!

Dimout or no, stars . . . neon-lighted Hollywood stars . . . will shine tonight on Keith Memorial stage.

The time is 9 p. m. and the occasion is the pre-release previewing of "Arabian Nights," Universal's Technicolor sensation.

Reading from left to right, the stars you'll be seeing are:

Maria Montez, Sabu, Elyse Knox, Gloria Jean, Nigel Bruce, Donald O'Connor and Peggy Ryan. They will appear in a gala Hollywood stage extravaganza, especially designed for this occasion.

There will be tonight's single showing only of "Arabian Nights," until the picture's formal showing at Keith Memorial in the near future.

"Once Upon a Honeymoon" will resume its regular performances tomorrow.

Yiddish Stars Play At Plymouth Sunday

A troupe composed of nine internationally famous Yiddish stars, including Celia Adler, Jacob Ben-Ami, Frances Adler, Misha and Lucy Gehrman, Berta Gersten, Menachem Rubin, Joseph Shoengold and Jacob Mestel, will appear here together for the first time at the Plymouth Theater, where they will be seen in "God, Man and Devil," Jacob Gordin's Jewish stage classic, which is to be presented at a matinee and evening only next Sunday.

The production, staged and directed by Jacob Ben-Ami, noted American-Jewish actor of both the Broadway and New York Yiddish stage, will be presented here under the auspices of the Hebrew actors' union.

APPARENTLY PAULETTE GODDARD can fool a horsefly as easily as she can the forthright, handsome Fred MacMurray, her co-star in "The Forest Rangers," Paramount's dramatic picture about the men who give their lives in the government's forestry service. It opens tomorrow on the Met screen.

Flynn Film for Twin Screens

"Gentleman Jim," new Warner Brothers film co-starring Errol Flynn with lovely, blonde Alexis Smith, tops the new program starting tomorrow at the Paramount and Fenway theaters. "The Affairs of Martha," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture with Marsha Hunt, Richard Carlson and Marjorie Main, will be the associate attraction.

The colorful 1880's and the exciting 90's form the background for "Gentleman Jim." The story is an action account of the career of James J. Corbett, whose life is said to typify the period during which he rose to fame. As a handsome young bank clerk from the wrong side of the railroad tracks who eventually crashes San Francisco's most elite society, Flynn is said to give one of his finest screen performances. Also acclaimed for her fine performance by preview critics is the work of beautiful Alexis Smith, who reaches stardom in this production.

Jack Carson and Alan Hale head the supporting cast, which includes John Loder, William Frawley, Minor Watson, and Ward Bond. Raoul Walsh directed.

The "Affairs of Martha," is the story of a talented housemaid who is writing a book about the society bigwigs for whom she works. There is an exciting romance between the servant and the son of her employers.

Berle Composed 70 Songs

Milton Berle, star of "Ziegfeld Follies" coming to the Shubert Theater tomorrow, besides being a comedian and humorist is a composer. He has to his credit some 74 songs, among them being "I'm So Happy I Can Cry," "You Took Me Out of This World" and "Lil Abner." Berle's newest tune is "Would It Make Any Difference to You?" He is a member of ASCAP.

ACTOR TAYLOR NOT IN SPAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Berlin radio erroneously reported internment in Spanish Morocco of film actor Robert Taylor—just shortly after he actually was finishing his day's work in Hollywood.

The Berlin broadcast recorded by the Associated Press announced that American film star Robert Taylor had been interned by Spanish authorities after a U. S. bomber had been forced down in Spanish Morocco.

Robert Taylor

A studio spokesman said he had seen Taylor not half an hour before and that to his knowledge the actor hadn't been out of the state for weeks, much less abroad.

Revere Holds Up Tin; Other Collections On

Hampered by bad weather and dangerous road conditions, Revere salvage officials today postponed the monthly tin can collection until February. The collection was due this week.

Collections will continue, however, in Greater Boston according to revised schedule. Tin cans will be picked up in Wards 15 through 18, Boston, tomorrow and in Cambridge, north of Central sq.

Tin will also be collected tomorrow in Framingham, Hingham, Hull, Maynard, Milton, Stoneham, Winchester, Arlington, Belmont, Chelsea, Medford and Somerville.

Personal Appearance Stars Appear on Bowdoin Screen

Gloria Jean, Donald O'Connor and Peggy Ryan, who will be members of Universal's galaxy of stars due to shine forth on Keith Memorial stage tonight in connection with the "Arabian Nights" special preview, are doubling on the Bowdoin screen, starting today.

They may be seen in "Get Hep to Love," the Bowdoin's film feature. Their supporting cast includes Jane Frazee, Robert Paige, Cora Sue Collins and the Jivin' Jacks and Jills.

The co-features are "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and "Dr. Renault's Secret," with John Shepperd, Lynn Roberts and J. Carrol Nash.

SLEIGH OF GAY '90 SOLVES GAS RATIONING FOR GLEASONS

By BETTY ALDEN

GAS IS RATIONED and the old jalopy is in the barn, but there are no restrictions on jingle bells and sleighs. So while life's a complicated proposition to most folks living in the country, it's a cinch for the Francis Gleasons of Concord.

Outdoing every magician who ever pulled a rabbit out of the hat the Gleasons have acquired a four seated cutter which the oldsters will remember as the classiest job of the Gay Nineties.

So they've furloughed the family car for the duration, harnessed up Old Dobbin and hitched him to the sleigh. Mrs. Gleason goes off to the railroad station, marketing, to the Red Cross or library to the old tune of "Jingle Bells"—but now all the neighbors think the song of the bells is "Saving gas, saving gas, saving all the way."

All of their neighbors don't have to be envious. The Henry A. Laughlins also have a sleigh and a hay burner to give it gasoline-less propulsion from the village to their house.

"We'd like to ride to Dover (sounds like the old song about the Golden Wedding Day) to see our friends," Mrs. Gleason reports, "but it's too cold to let the horse stand while we visit." This humanitarian view will probably make the oldsters ponder, but even horses have become acclimated to the comforts of modern living.

Mary Gleason knows plenty about the care of Old Dobbin, for she has owned and ridden horses ever since she was a child. In fact she has won a great many trophies for her horsemanship in some of the biggest local shows. Her husband is a former Harvard football and hockey star. She is the former Mary McElwain, daughter of the J. Francis McElwains of Boston and Cohasset. Her parents have temporarily given up the problem of heating their big house in town and left for Sea Island, Georgia, to spend the rest of the winter.

Mary's sister is Mrs. Samuel Wakeman (Frances McElwain) of Steamboat Lane, Hingham, a noted sportswoman and wife of the general manager of the new shipyard in Hingham.

C'EST LA GUERRE—Henrietta Kennard (Mrs. Robert M. P.) of Newton Center, who has to come in town for frequent meetings of the various charity committees she's interested in, makes the busline in 18 minutes flat from her front door on Dudley rd. It's two miles. The Thomas Barbours are among the many swanky families practising the latest mode of saving leftover breakfast coffee for dinner's demi-tasse.

NOTES FROM THE BACKS OF WINTER POSTCARDS—Subdeb Adele Herter, daughter of the Christian Herters, is in Pinehurst with Ann Hunneman visiting the latter's grandmother, Mrs. M. W. Marr. Horseback riding over the wooded North Carolina trails is their chief sport and evenings are devoted to a round of partying planned in their honor by Mrs. Marr.

New Test For 'Flu'

By GOBIND BEHARI LAL
International News Service Science Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—A new rapid test for diagnosis of influenza in human beings is revealed in the United States Naval Medical Bulletin received today.

The test, devised at the naval laboratory research at the University of California, consists in a certain treatment of the red blood cells of a person in a test tube.

Until now the tests for influenza, made on mice, were expensive and uncertain.

Influenza, of the epidemic vaciety, which has to be kept out of the armed forces, is caused by a virus which grows in a living body.

In this new test human body red blood cells are "washed" and preserved in an ice chest. These cells are taken from the body of persons whose blood belongs to what is known as the "O" group, according to blood grouping standards employed in blood transfusion.

If these red blood cells are mixed with the blood serum of a person who has influenza virus in the body, then the blood cells and the invisible virus particles get hooked together. The result is that they form "clumped" particles and settle down at the bottom of the fluid in the test tube.

North End Union Gives Help to Boys and Girls

Making up for lack of home care by parents employed in war plants, recreational activities and classes to teach skills have been stepped up at the North End Union, Parmenter st., for boys and girls, including Junior Victory Army members.

Making up for lack of home care by parents employed in war plans, recreational activities and classes to teach skills have been stepped up at the North End Union, Parmenter st., for boys and girls, including Junior Victory Army members.

The plan provides the children with the knowledge to help them get employment later, according to Frank L. Havey, headworker at the settlement house which will share in the current Greater Boston United War Fund campaign.

Open house will be held there from 4 to 6 tomorrow afternoon.

Sewing classes for girls from age seven on through courses for mothers are filled. Simplest kind of sewing is taught to the children supplemented later with information on materials, colors and color blending.

Model plane building classes are held for boys three times a week under supervision of a Harvard Graduate School student.

Shelf models of virtually every known plane have been made, many of them being used by the Army to teach identification of different types. Light weight flying models are also built.

A course in citizenship, sponsored by the Boston League of Women Voters is given little children to teach them the locations and functions of all city and state buildings in Boston.

New Spine Drug Takes Pain Out of Childbirth

By WILLIS YOUNG

CHICAGO, Jan. 20 (AP)—Comfortable and painless childbirth, safe for both mother and child, is provided by a new type of spinal anesthesia, the Journal of the American Medical Ass'n announced today.

Physicians who have used it described it as "the best method yet devised," "100 per cent effective," "perfect painless childbirth" and apparently "the last word in obstetric analgesia."

Both the physicians who developed it and the A. M. A. journal cautioned, however, that the method should be used only in hospitals and by doctors specially trained in this particular technique.

The new method involves injection of a solution of metycaine, a cocaine substitute, into the lower tip of the spine.

The pain-killing drug bathes the nerves at the end of the spine, but does not enter the membranes covering the spinal canal, with the result that the anesthesia does not cause loss of consciousness or hinder muscular movements which have a part in voluntary delivery of the baby.

Listen, World!

I'll Find Peace

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Copyright, 1943, King Features Syndicate, Inc. World Rights Reserved

MR. SMITH is surprised. Not to say flabbergasted. Being both wise and important, Mr. Smith has spent most of his 60 years analyzing our social system.

Recently he decided to make a survey of the Modern Working Woman—particularly those ladies who are now mannig our defense projects. Whereupon he made many startling discoveries and would like to pass them on.

First of all our analyzer is amazed to find how many Modern Women are not only willing but eager to leave home and take a job. One can understand such an attitude in a restless, impoverished young girl, says he, or in a feminine careerist. But surely older married ladies with ample means must still cherish the beauty of a serene home environment and shrink from public positions.

BUT DESPITE MR. SMITH'S COAXING LITTLE WAYS, THEY DON'T AND THEY WON'T!

"Mind you," he deplores, "I fully realize that the world has changed greatly since my own youth and I have kept an open mind about it all. Naturally, I am familiar with women who work from necessity. But I am astounded by this enormous host of free wives and mothers who are taking over exclusively male jobs and glorying in the fact.

"One sees them swinging down the street in their slacks chatting excitedly, having parked their children for the day, and one can only wonder—where will they go from here? What will happen to their homes and babies? How about their men deprived of the comforts of home or returning from war to find women holding the old jobs and refusing to give them up? To say the least, it seems unbefitting, if not downright vulgar, for women to have abandoned all the old ideals like this!"

THEY AREN'T abandoning their old ideals, friend Smith. They are just beginning to put them into practice. There is nothing new about the restless woman at any age. Women have always been the restless, adventuresome sex. And I suggest that if they had not prodded their men along we'd still be walking in cow trails.

You claim women are taking your jobs. That's right—but remember you grabbed theirs first. For over 50 years men have been taking the baking, washing, cleaning, sewing and cooking jobs from the women and turning them into Big Business. And, incidentally, shrinking a ten-room farmhouse into a three-room apartment.

So now we're out on our own and I suspect we'll stay. I admit we're wishing some tough problems on ourselves, the problem of the neglected child, the overworked woman, the sulky male, the desperate need for factory nursing managed by experts, the equally great need for more quiet and beauty in our lives. But these problems were inevitable. They would have come even if there had been no war.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Writer

The new chairman of the National Democratic Committee is in favor of the two-party system. And he hopes both will be Democratic.

He says democracy is founded on the right of the people to debate, criticize and voice an opinion.

This was just after the democracies dropped a series of blockbusters on those who have a contrary opinion on the Flynn appointment.

The Democrats found saboteurs and treasonists under every anti-Flynn bed. They are in favor of sending Flynn to Australia and critics of his appointment to Atlanta which also is in the south.

Opposition to the Flynn appointment is "a dastardly, treasonable plot," the Democrats found.

This is a new interpretation of free speech and free opinion in a democracy and worth studying.

It would be worth studying even in Atlanta.

Billy Conn Teaching Boxing to Soldiers

PRIVATE HARRY SIMON, who used to live at the Paramount Hotel in this city, has sent me from Camp Lee, Virginia, the latest picture of Billy Conn which proves that the Pittsburgh heavyweight, now a corporal in the Army, is in the best of physical condition. Private Simon was photographed with Conn.

"I am sending you a picture of Billy Conn, the 'Harvard Man,' which was taken while he was attending a football game played at Richmond Stadium on January 3, 1943, between the Camp Lee eleven and the Shamrocks," writes Private Simon. "I thought you would be interested in giving the Boston public some idea of what Corporal Conn is doing and how well he is looking.

"Seated next to Conn is the writer, a Boston resident in normal times, and a constant reader of the American-Record. Billy's duties here consist of instructions in boxing in addition to his daily activities as a corporal."

Thanks, Private Harry Simon. It is fine to know that our Boston friends are acting as reporters for us at the different camps, and also in foreign countries.

Soldiers, sailors, marines and aviators everywhere have been displaying a fine interest in sports. Before the boxing bouts between the Army team and the New England outfit at the Arena the other night Freddy Russo read a telegram that was received by Capt. James Lane from Major-General Fred Walker. The general declared that the 36th Division was solidly behind the soldier boxers win, lose or draw.

It was the finest team of soldier boxers to ever show in Boston. The Army team will keep improving. Gene Driscoll says he will take a team of New England boxers to battle the Army boxers at Camp Edwards before the end of the winter.

Johnny Cooney Gave Loyal Service to Braves

JOHNNY COONEY, veteran Braves outfielder who was released by Bob Quinn along with Paul Waner, gave loyal and brilliant service to the Braves over a period of years. Cooney was an all-around star and he filled many a gap in the lineup of the Braves during the years he was with the club.

In addition to his ability to play almost any position on the club, Cooney was a good hitter. He was particularly effective at the bat in critical moments of ball games.

Cooney and Waner, according to the announcement by the Braves management, knew since the season closed that they would not be back with the club next season. They were given this information so that they could make whatever adjustments they could. It is likely that Cooney, despite his years, will secure a position with one of the major league clubs. In a period when the younger players are being called into military service, Cooney would prove a valuable asset for many clubs.

Irish Acting Head Of Madison Sq. Garden

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (INS)—Ned Irish, who took basketball out of the cramped college gym and brought it into Madison Square Garden before crowds approaching 20,000, has been installed as acting president of the Garden for the duration.

Irish is taking over the duties of Brig.-Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, who at present is commanding officer of the Hampton Roads Port of Embarkation at Newport News, Va.

Speary 58th Victim Of Feather Champ Pep

HARTFORD, Ct., Jan. 20 (INS)—Willie Pep, of Hartford, New York commission featherweight champion, won his 58th consecutive bout, piling up points to take an easy 10-round decision over Bill Speary, of Nanticoke, Pa., in a non-title engagement.

Pep won every round and came close to scoring a knockout in the seventh and ninth. There were no knockdowns and Pep left the ring unmarked, while Speary had a bad left eye.

COONEY MAY WIND UP IN RED SOX OUTFIELD

By HERB FINNEGAN

Andy Gilbert's induction into the Army leaves the Red Sox with only five outfielders, four of them rookies, and thus it would come as no surprise to this writer if good old Johnny Cooney found a spot on the Sox roster upon Joe Cronin's return from Honolulu.

Cronin thinks a lot of Cooney; also of that other Braves castaway, Paul Waner. In fact Cooney and Waner are the only two National Leaguers Cronin would let train with his Sox at Sarasota. The clubhouse door was always open to them.

"Waner was the toast of Pittsburgh when I was a kid breaking in with the Pirates," we've heard Cronin say. "I couldn't hit a lick at the time and was so homesick I was always on the verge of packing up and going back to Frisco. But Waner would take me for a walk, buy me an ice cream soda, tell me what a great ball player I'd be one day and perk me up so that I'd give it another fling. He was wonderful to the kids."

REFUSES DOUBLE-A POST

Waner still is. Last spring he spent day after day helping Paul Campbell with his hitting, and the young Sox rookie benefited greatly. And Vince DiMaggio always gives Waner credit for making him a major league hitter.

It's doubtful, however, if Waner is looking for a job. He's been around since 1926 and when he rang up his 3000th hit last summer to gain baseball immortality he was willing to call it quits. He never had managerial ambitions.

Perhaps Cooney is of the same mould. Certainly a Double-A player-manager post, which the Braves had lined up for him, is nothing to be sneezed at. On the other hand, Johnny may figure he's good enough in this war year to fit into some major league outfield. What could be sweeter for a 42-year-old veteran than that left field spot at Fenway?

Only outfielders on the Sox roster are Pete Fox, Paul Campbell, Tommy McBride, Ford Garrison and Johnny Lazor. No star-spangled array. Cooney not only could fit into that pattern as an outfielder but could help the youngsters a lot like he did Max West.

HE'S HANDY ANDY

The Braves, with Fernandez, West, Holmes, Ross and Rookie Workman, are better equipped in outfield material than the Red Sox. Yet on paper Cooney figured to stay with them forever. He's as smart a baseball man as can be found in the big league picture. His personal habits are exemplary. He was always a great team man, a good pitching, first base and outfield coach. Stengel liked him, in fact brought him to the club. His release doesn't make sense unless he was dragging down a high salary.

Baseball critics don't like to see a man of Cooney's many talents leave the Boston scene. Perhaps the Sox skipper will see to it that he stays here.

Connie Sees League Needing Men Like Cooney, Waner

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20 (AP)—Connie Mack, whose American League Athletics have had plenty of wartime problems, had this cautious comment to make about the Boston Braves' release of Paul Waner and John Cooney, two of the National League's oldest outfielders.

"Some of us may need men like them before the approaching war season is over. Right now I can't see where they can fit in with the Athletics. I expect to have plenty of outfielders around, but one can't be

Bruins' Pace Traced To Brimsek, Hollet

By BILL GRIMES

"In my opinion the Bruins are out in front in the N. H. L. race because they have Frankie Brimsek in the nets and 'Flash' Hollett scoring 'clutch' goals," declared Coach Dick Irvin of Les Canadiens before last night's game at the Garden.

Due to their shut-out victory over the Maple Leafs, Sunday in Montreal, Les Canadiens were "high" when they arrived here to meet the Bruins They were very confident they would take the Rossmen into camp and were heard to make a few side remarks about a shut-out.

But, when the chips were down, the Bruins came through with a 5 to 2 win. In so doing, they made Irvin's rating of the Rossmen appear as though he had some inside information on the success of the Boston club.

"Anytime that Brimsek is having a good night," continued Irvin, "he's the toughest goalie in the league to beat. The only chance a rival has to beat Boston, is to catch Brimsek on an off night, which, I'll grant you, isn't frequent enough for me or any of the other N. H. L. coaches.

BRIMSEK'S SAVES TOUGH

"I believe that you fellows underrate Hollett. I'll bet he's won five or six games for the Bruins this season by scoring deciding goals."

There's no question but that Brimsek was very much on his game last night. And there's little to be gained by arguing that if he wasn't at his peak, the Bruins would have been well trounced.

True, Brimsek was credited with only two more saves than Paul Bibeault, the French goalie, but "Brimie" was called upon to make many stops which only the topnotchers could do. On the other hand, most of Bibeault's saves were routine.

Irvin was definitely right on Hollett, for the "Flash" broke a scoreless deadlock early in the second period and also contributed the fifth and final Bruin marker.

Hollett's first goal was made after he had broken out of his own zone and raced the length of the ice. Prior to Hollett's appearance, the Bruins hadn't been able to get out of their territory for almost four minutes, excepting one rush which petered out at the French blue line.

"Flash" dribbled into the clear and then set sail for the Canadiens' nets. After crossing the blue line, he swung out to his right and cut loose with a backhander from the red line, which had Bibeault beaten all the way.

HOLLETT IN RARE FORM

On his second tally, "Flash" really put on a show. After taking a pass from Murph Chamberlain, he skated right by Bibeault and it looked as though he was going into the corner. When he was about 10 feet beyond the far post, he flipped a back-hander and, much to the surprise of everyone in the rink and particularly Bibeault, the disc landed in the strings.

After the game, "Flash" was in rare form.

"What did you think of my two 'down home' shots?" asked Hollett. "I show them only on rare occasions."

DERBY PERFORMERS—Ted Meza, left, known as the king of skating comedians, will be seen for the first time by a Boston audience at the Eighth Annual Silver Skates Derby, next Sunday at the Boston Garden. Meza starred for several years in many of Broadway's musical comedies as an eccentric dancer. He then put his stage routine on ice and opened an ice show of his own. He's one of the many headliners who'll perform between the Derby races. At the right, pretty Andrea Largo, of the Olympia Skating Club of Boston, shows her great love for winter sports by coasting with a pair of skates in her hands. She'll compete in the girls' intermediate division.

Mat Match For Fund

Danno O'Mahony, former heavyweight champion, will try to hurdle over a most stubborn obstacle in his path toward another crack at the title when he takes on Maurice Tillet of France, the Angel, in the main bout of the weekly wrestling show at the Arena tonight.

Promoter Paul Bowser, making his annual contribution, has announced that a portion of the gross receipts will be turned over to the Infantile Paralysis Fund.

O'Mahony, a much more accomplished grappler than when he wore the crown, is in the midst of a winning streak that has again pushed him up among the top challengers for the title.

SKATES DERBY TOPS PREVIOUS CLASSICS

There will be more talent in the coming Silver Skates Derby at Boston Garden Sunday than there has been in any of the past seven ice classics. Never before have there been three internationally known stars in one Derby, but this year the committee has gone all out to make this the show of shows.

Adele Inge, Edi Scholdan or Ted Meza would be attraction enough singly to lure a great crowd to the Garden but to have all three on the same program gives the Derby rank with the great ice shows of the nation.

Frank Dannahy

And, to make this triple attraction all the greater, neither Adele Inge nor Ted Meza have ever appeared in Boston before. Edi Scholdan, continental standout for many years who is located in Boston during the winter, has appeared here many times but Edi always comes up with new and original routines that are terrific.

Then, add Janie Weiss, 13-year-old Walpole girl who stopped the show last year, Sandylee Weille, 9-year-old skating whizz from Brookline, and the LeBel family, barrel jumpers from Meridan, Ct., and it's easy to see that this is the greatest talent laden show of them all.

We musn't forget either that there are over 400 skaters who are primed and ready for the big event. The speed skating races are the backbone of all Derby cards for it is primarily for these youngsters that the Silver Skates program is held.

Those active in the developing of skaters and the maintaining of interest in the sport have always been high in their praise to the American-Record for keeping the Derby alive year in and year out regardless of conditions.

In the mail today came a letter from Frank P. Dannahy, president of the New England Ice Skating Ass'n. He was New England's speed skating champion in 1909 and 1910, indoors and outdoors, and has been actively interested in the sport since hanging up his blades. His letter in part states:

"Congratulations to Boston American-Record for promoting one of the grandest sports events of the season. By providing this healthful entertainment, the boys and girls are provided with wholesome fun.

"In the trying days of the present and future, our boys need our companionship and guidance and it is our part in a patriotic way to help youngsters secure a firm footing of security by planning a better world for the future. One way is through recreation.

"The finest of all sports is skating for both young people and those who are young in heart. For an afternoon of entertainment the Silver Skates Derby is outstanding.

"I want to thank the Boston American-Record for New England Skating Ass'n, Inc.

"FRANK P. DANNAHY,
"President."

Many other letters from competitors, parents and skating enthusiasts have been coming in for the past month lauding the American-Record for this great Derby.

Lacey's At It Again-- Trains Army Boxers

FORT McCLELLAN, Ala., Jan. 20—Most people remember Jack Sharkey, the Boston sailor who won the heavyweight championship in 1933 only to lose it a year later to Primo Carnera, the Italian circus freak, as a dour unlikeable chap with a perpetual frown.

It's true that in almost all his pictures Sharkey was a scowling, dark-browed fellow with the air of a chronic dypepsic.

But here at the Infantry Replacement Training Center is a soldier who can give you a different picture of the Boston Gob. He's Pvt. Cornelius A. Lacey of Chelsea, Mass., long-time trainer of boxers, and he knew Jack Sharkey as few other men knew him.

He knew a side of Sharkey's nature which sports writers, the news camera and all the publicity attendant upon one who wears the heavyweight crown never seemed to bring to light.

MORE THAN A FIGHTER

Lacey trained Sharkey for many of his fights and was with him for a number of years. He became a close friend and confidant of the erratic Boston fighter.

An ex-fighter himself and still a fine specimen of ring material, though he's rounding 45, Lacey's usually piercing blue eyes unconsciously soften when he talks about Jack Sharkey.

"Sharkey was a real good fighter but, more than that, he was a good man," says Lacey.

"People never knew the real Sharkey," he adds, "because Sharkey wanted it that way. He didn't want the limelight. His interest centered in his family and in his home. He was a good father, a good husband and a man who preferred his own small circle of friends to the adulation of the crowds."

HELD N. E. TITLE

Lacey was inducted into the Army Nov. 28 and right up till that time was in the element he loved best—the fight ring. He entered it as a kid of 15—a promising young fighter who fought his way to the New England AAU welterweight championship within a year.

But there he stopped, putting aside the gloves to become a handler, trainer and manager, to embark upon a career which has thrown him into the company of the greatest fighters of the last quarter century.

He knew personally Dempsey, Tunney, Loughran, Schmeling and Carnera; the ill-fated Ernie Schaaf, whom he trained; Max Baer and Jimmy Braddock. He handled Al McCoy against Joe Louis and admired the Brown Bomber as one of the most perfect fighting machines he had ever seen.

His ability as a trainer won Lacey the job of coaching two of America's Olympic boxing teams, those of 1924 and 1928. The president of the Olympic teams of '28 was a man under whom Lacey hopes to some day serve again—Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

TRAINING ARMY BOXERS

In 1926 he coached the American team that carried off a number of laurels in the Pan-American Championships at Buenos Aires and at least three of his

CORNELIUS 'AL' LACEY

Olympic boxers went on to win championship crowns in the professional ring.

They were Jackie Fields, welterking a few years ago; Fidel La Barba, who ruled the flyweight division, and Petey Sarron, exfeatherweight champ.

Now Lacey has his eyes on a group of young men who constitute the boxing team of Co. A, 6th Battalion, Lacey's orangization here.

He's undertaken the training of these young boxers and like virtually every other devotee and practically all sports writers he's convinced the next heavyweight champion of the world will come out of the armed forces.

And if he dreams—who can blame him.

Ambrose Heads Colgate Navy Sports School

HAMILTON, N. Y., Jan. 20 (INS)—Lieut. John Ambrose, former star athlete at Catholic University and coach at the High School of Commerce, Worcester, Mass., today was the new director of athletics for the new naval flight preparatory school at Colgate University.

A six-sport program to be inaugurated for the 250 cadets now beginning their training at the school will have general conditioning and the development of competitive sports as its chief objectives.

Ambrose, who also heads the physical training program at the school, entered the Navy a year ago in the first V-5 class organized by Commdr. Tom Hamilton.

B. C.'S FIRST ICE LINE FINDS THE GROOVE

Coach Johnny Temple of Boston College's hockey team is a happy mentor these days, for his prize first line of Wally Boudreau, Jimmy Edgeworth and Johnny "Putto" Murphy is finally hitting its true stride.

Although this unit has been playing good hockey all year it hasn't been able to register to its tune of last year. This line was one of the highest scoring units of intercollegiate hockey last year, running rough-shod over all opposition with the exception of Dartmouth.

Against Bill Linsky's Northeastern last night they performed in their old style, particularly when the going was tough in the overtime period.

The goal that brought the Eagles a 6-5 victory was a darling and every member of the unit took part in its scoring.

Half-way through the stanza Murphy picked up the rubber deep in his own territory, circled his net and sped into Huskies' area. While being boxed he passed the disc over to Boudreau, who carried into the corner and whipped a pass over to Edgeworth in the opposite corner. The latter then whistled the rubber past a surprised Will Shannon, Huskies' goalie.

That goal kept B. C.'s N. E. League record unblemished in its third straight year and chalked up its 21st consecutive league victory.

After he had scored his first goal of the season, Jack Shewchuk lost his stick in New York. He suspects the Rangers ganged up on him . . . "Yank" Boyd met Lynn Patrick after the Ranger game and during their conversation the former remarked that during that contest he got his first workout in two weeks. "What are we now, a workout club?" asked the Ranger star.

Unless he lays off that showboat stuff, they'll soon be calling him Bill "Klem" Cleary. Cambridge Bill has really been putting it on of late . . . Glen Harmon, the rookie Dick Irvin brought up from the amateu Canadiens, is a good prospect. Right now, it's stretching a point to compare him with "King" Clancy . . . Johnny Mahaffy, who was the leading scorer in the Q. S. H. L. when he joined Les Canadiens, has scored his first N. H. L. goal. It was against Frankie Brimsek who was turning in one of his best exhibitions. "Brimie" was beaten on two cheap goals but he deflected or caught about 30 shots which were labeled for tallies.

Win Green, Bruins' trainer, will be back on the job when the club returns from this trip. He will leave Pensacola tomorrow . . . Ernie Cook. Canadiens' trainer, acted as coach of many Canadian teams which competed in the B. A. A. marathons . . . Dick Irvin favors the Toronto Maple Leafs to win the N. H. L. title with Detroit second and the Bruins third. He believes that the Maple Leafs would win by a very wide margin but for the fact that they play 17 week-end double-headers. In his opinion, Toronto is at least 25 per cent stronger at home than on the road. And he offers as proof of that statement the fact that the Leafs have won only three games away from home, two from Rangers and one from his club.

Yankees to Start Training April 21

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—The New York Yankees will open their training camp at Asbury Park, N. J., April 21, President Ed Barrow announced today. They will remain there only three weeks, breaking camp April 8 and moving into New York for nine exhibition games against the Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and New York Giants.

The Yankees will start training about a week later than their two New York city rivals, the Giants and Dodgers, who plan to open their camps at Lakewood, N. J., and Bear Mountain, N. Y., on April 15.

That Extra Something!

. . . You can spot it every time

IT'S knowing what all the shooting is about plus all there is to know about 'chuting that gives the paratrooper his extra, skillful something.

It's knowing how to quench your thirst plus how to give you the fine feeling of refreshment that has made ice-cold Coca-Cola the best-liked soft drink on earth. Quality is the extra something. You'll taste it and feel it and enjoy it every time you tip up a frosty bottle of Coke.

Fifty-seven years of skill working with the choicest of ingredients creates its goodness. So, call for ice-cold Coca-Cola by its full name or by everybody's affectionate abbreviation, Coke. That's treating yourself right.

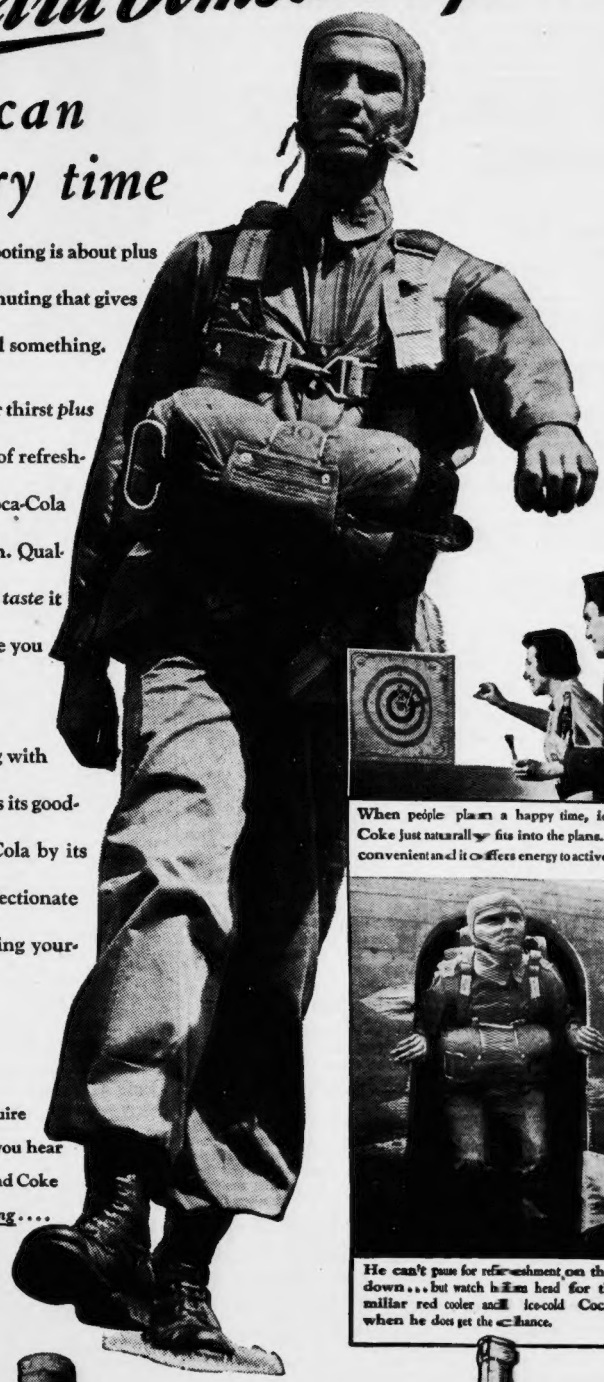
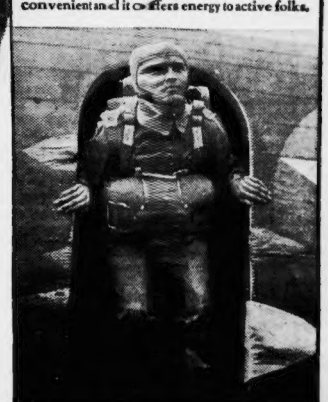
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing . . . the real thing . . . . "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".



When people plan a happy time, ice-cold Coke just naturally fits into the plans. It's so convenient and it offers energy to active folks.



He can't pause for refreshment on the way down . . . but watch him head for the familiar red cooler and ice-cold Coca-Cola when he does get the chance.

Ask any fighting man. He'll tell you that ice-cold Coca-Cola at a canteen adds a special touch to morale. And it adds refreshment, everywhere you get it.

NEW ORLEANS TRACK THRIVES ON WAR DIET

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 20 (AP)—The sport and business of horse racing, like virtually everything else in this roaring, romantic old town, is thriving on a wartime diet.

The Fair Grounds meeting, scheduled for 75 days, is just past the halfway mark and shows average daily wagering practically double that of last winter, while paid attendance has increased about 1000 a day.

A group of well known members of the turf set took over and revived Crescent City racing last winter and, after a game struggle through a river of red ink, somehow pulled through. At any rate, the new deal was welcomed and now it seems the sponsors are being rewarded. It is reported the Fair Grounds can make ends meet very nicely on an average daily play of $100,000.

The first 38 days, or through Saturday, brought total wagering of $4,317,811, an average of $113,626. Last winter, the 44-day meeting saw $2,625,414 being bet, or only $59,668 daily. Average daily paid attendance this season to date is close to 3000. It was less than 2000 last winter.

Yesterday, with the new ban on taxi travel to easily-accessible Fair Grounds in effect, at least an average-size crowd was on hand and they wagered $131,144.

The blackout of Florida racing resulted in several "name" horses being shipped here, so it is only natural for local turfites to anticipate even more success for the second half of the Fair Grounds session.

The recent arrival of Warren Wright's money winning ace, Whirlaway, has added interest to the racing season. Trainer Ben Jones said yesterday that Whirly shipped in fine style, as did 13 others from Miami. Some of the lesser lights may be ready to race in a day or two. Jones could not say when Whirlaway would start. He added:

"If I run him before the New Orleans Handicap Feb. 27, it probably would have to be in a sprint, and Whirly may have forgotten how to sprint, it's so long since he did that. But if he starts in a short dash, the object would be to tighten him up so he'd be thoroughly fit for the longer distance."

DESROSIERS REJOINS PICS

Gerry Desrosiers definitely will be in Olympic livery on Saturday night when the local puck chasers cross sticks with the Rovers at the Garden.

The Cambridge veteran has been threatening to get back into action for the past two weeks. He would have donned the red, white and blue spangles against the Coast Guard except for a bad cold. Harrington plans on using the Cambridge veteran on the right wing of the second line. He will be teamed with Jerry Bauer and Bob Jeremiah. The left-shooting Jeremiah will handle the right wing berth.

The only other change in the Boston lineup will see Don Nichols of Calumet, Mich., stationed at the Olympic blue line. Nichols, a rugged individual, is no Pavalowa on the ice, but he specializes on dishing out body checks, an attribute that has been strangely missing from the Olympic squad this winter.

Huskies Play Conn. Quintet

Coach Foxy Flumere's Northeastern hoopsters journey to Storrs, Ct., today to meet the University of Connecticut in a New England Intercollegiate League game at 4 p. m. The Huskies have not been able to trip the powerful U.Coms for six years.

Coach Flumere says that he intends to start Capt. Mike Azzone at guard, with the rest of the line-up being made up of his fast-breaking freshmen and sophomores.

Lanky Al Stone, sophomore backboard ace from Chelsea, will team with Azzone in the back court, while freshman Tommy Phillips will start at center, flanked by yearlings Russ Washburn and Cookie Gwazdosky. Washburn and Phillips are currently leading the Husky scorers.

McAuley Picks $67 Winner

Bill McAuley, Daily Record and Green Race Special handicapper, yesterday came up with a nice winner when Joe W. accounted for the second race and returned $67.40.

McAuley had the winner of the opening event, Golf Widow, which paid $3.80. Golf Widow, paired with Joe W., returned $152.60 in the double.

Reinstatement Sought By Newburyport High

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Newburyport High School, bowed in submission and under the guidance of a new athletic council since the start of the new year, has thrown its future sports destiny into the hands of the Mass. Headmasters' Ass'n, with an application for reinstatement into that independent group of secondary school authorities.

Newburyport, along with eight others, Lynn Classical and English, Peabody, Chelsea, Revere, Salem, Lowell and Lawrence, was branded as an "outlaw" for playing football on a Sunday afternoon last fall.

FILED LAST WEEK

As a matter of fact, acting headmaster John Donovan, filed the application the middle of last week with Secretary William Sprague. And, in all due time, this application will be forwarded to the new president of the association, John B. Clark, Williamstown, to be taken under consideration and to be mulled over by the new committee on athletics.

The application has only been filed a week and if things follow through in accordance to the present pace of the association, there is a possibility that Newburyport will be reinstated in time to defend its championship in Class B in the Tech Basketball tourney.

FIRST OF ITS KIND

It will be an experimental case—the first of its kind ever to pop up to the association—and of course the kids at Newburyport High will be the only ones involved. They're the ones playing basketball, so while the application makes its snail-pace progress through varied channels, the boys of Newburyport can play harder basketball to either gain a spot in the Tech tourney or play harder not to gain a berth.

After all, some of these boys played Sunday football.

Al Cannava, sensational halfback for Medford High School's undefeated football team last fall, will be on his way to Notre Dame today after an audience with Mayor John C. Carr yesterday . . . Cannava was to attend a testimonial to the squad tonight at the Medford Theater, but had to leave for his first school sessions in the West . . . Swede Nelson, sports authority, will be guest speaker . . . The Mustangs will be awarded gold footballs for their stellar play of last season.

McCLUSKEY TOPS TRACK 'WHO'S WHO'

The All-American track and field team, generally accepted as the "who's who" in American cinder performance, today starred Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. and North Carolina Pre-Flight School, the A. A. U.'s track and field guide reveals.

The team, picked by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., embraces all the branches of track and field competition, and this year features many stars who are now in the services.

McCluskey brought to 23 the number of national titles he has won, by last year annexing the 10,000-meter and 15,000-meter championships, and was an easy choice for a place among the elite for the 12th time.

Ten appearances on the All-America team ranks Lou Gregory, distance star of the Millrose A. A., just behind McCluskey.

For the fifth straight year, Cornelius Warmerdam of the San Francisco Club, sensational 15-foot pole vaulter, and Ensign Fred Wolcott of Georgia Pre-Flight, the hurdling ace, are on the team.

The late John Borican, who succumbed to pernicious anemia last month, and Greg Rice of the New York A. C., appeared on the dream squad for the fourth straight year.

On the team for the third straight time are Chief Specialist Billy Brown, the jumper; Harold Davis, the sprint star, and Al Blozis, sparkling shot-putter.

Those who repeat were Pvts. Barney Ewell, Johnny Kelley, John Connolly, and Walter Fleming, Frank Berst and Boyd Brown.

ONLY 22 REMAIN ON BRAVES LIST

Release of Cooney and Waner leaves the Braves with only 22 players: Catchers Lombardi, Klutiz, Masi; Infielders McCarthy, Joost, Wietelman, Cuccinello, Sandlock; Outfielders Fernandez, Holmes, West, Ross, Workman; Pitchers Barrett, Andrews, Jeffcoat, Javery, Tobin, Tost, Salvo, Lamanna, Donovan and possibly Spahn, though Spahn is expected to be serving Uncle Sam soon . . . The Braves have 12 men in the service: Rowell, Posedel, Williams, who missed all last season, and Wallace, Gremp, Sain, Detweiler, Sisti, Roberge, Earley, McElyea, Johnson, who have gone since the close of the 1942 campaign.

Andy Gilbert's induction leaves the Red Sox with 29 players: Catchers Conroy, Peacock, Partee, Bremer, Richards; Infielders Cronin, Doerr, Carey, L. Newsome, Tabor, Lupien, Lake; Outfielders Fox, Campbell, McBride, Garrison, Lazor; Pitchers Mace Brown, Norman Brown, Chase, Dobson, Hughson, Judd, D. Newsome, Ryba, Terry, Karl, Lucier, Olsen . . . Outfielder Paul Campbell and Infielder Tommy Carey are married but childless, and it is doubtful if they last the season. Status of Oscar Judd, a Canadian, is in doubt He's working in an essential industry, and Canada's McNutt may not release him . . . Boston would have liked Gilbert. A head-first slider like Pepper Martin, the youngster broke his neck some five years back but even that didn't deter him. He still slides head-first. He's game, fast and has a great arm. Had he hit better he'd have been up two years ago. His average at Louisville last season was .299.

It didn't take the Braves long to line up an exhibition schedule. Read it: April 8 (Thursday) Yale at New Haven pending; 9, Yale at New Haven; 10, Newark at Plainfield, N. J.; 11, Newark at Newark; 12 and 13, Yankees at New York; 14, A's at Wilmington, Del.; 15, A's at Philadelphia; 16, open; 17, 18 and 19, Red Sox at Boston with morning and afternoon games on the 19th; 20, open; 21, league opener . . . Not much traveling entailed in that schedule. Plainfield is only a subway ride from Newark. Wilmington is only 25 miles from Philly . . . Said Pee-Wee Reese the day in 1941 that the Dodgers clinched the pennant at Braves Field: "This has been two seasons in one. I started Jan. 28 and did more traveling before the season opened than I did from April to September. All one night stands. I was dog-tired in April. The regular season was a relief. At least I could get some sleep. I actually gained weight from April on." Those days are gone, Pee-Wee, possibly forever.

Herb Pennock's son Joe, a crack all-round athlete in his native Kennett Square, Pa., celebrated his 18th birthday by registering for the draft. Joe will graduate from high school in June if Uncle Sam doesn't call him before then. Unlike his father, Joe's a strapping six-footer and a right-hander.

He's a first baseman and a good one, a fine halfback and a standout in basketball. He's an aviation enthusiast, has done some flying and hopes to land in the Army Air Corps.

Offer Callura Go Here; Jimmy Sauer Turns Pro

Jackie Callura, newly crowned king of the featherweights by virtue of his victory over Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson this week, today was considering an especially flattering offer from Promoter Rip Valenti to meet the winner of the match Friday night between Sal Bartolo, East Boston, and Chalky Wright, California, in the near future in Boston.

At the same time, it was announced Jimmy Sauer, National and All-America champion from Cambridge, would make his first start in the professional ranks in a six round preliminary to the Bartolo-Wright bout.

Britt to Meet Pacino At Mechanics, Jan. 28

Frank Britt of Fall River has been matched with Larry Pacino of Roxbury for a ten-round fight at Mechanics Building on Jan. 28, one week from tomorrow night. Promoters Jack O'Brien and Eddie Mack expect to build a good supporting card for the Pacino-Britt main go.

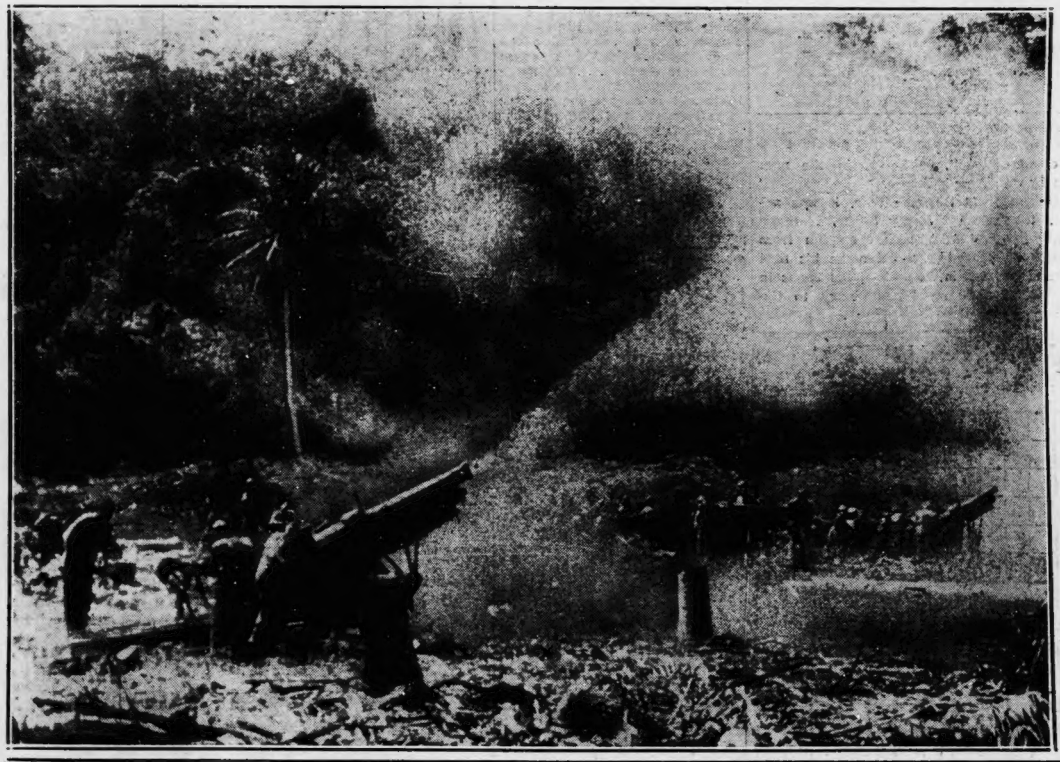
No Opera

This is what the Axis air force did to the opera house in Malta in raids which have made the unsinkable isle the "most bombed strip of land in the world." Despite the severity of the raids, Malta can still go about its daily business. American Navy men are among those in the street.



For Japs

From a U. S. Marine Corps official newsreel comes this photo of leatherneck gunners slinging high explosives at a pocket of Jap resistance with 155 mm. howitzers . . . on Guadalcanal. Marine strategy calls for ground troops to pocket Jap units . . . then comes the artillery.
